School Committee

Who will replace Nora Zinan?

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - When will we know who will take the place of School Committee member Nora Zinan, who officially resigned from her position on Friday, May 24?

The answer may come as soon as exactly one month later. At its meeting on Tuesday, May 28, the Board of Selectman established June 24 as the date on which it will meet with the School Committee and choose Zinan's successor.

So far, two candidates have stepped forward and expressed their interest in claiming the three-year term, to which Zinan had been re-elected during the Annual Town Election last month.

In a letter to Selectman Chairman Robert Cain, residents Mark DiGiovanni and Marilyn Lamson requested that they be considered to fill the vacancy.

DiGiovanni attributed his interest in the position to his "unique pride" in the community and its public school system.

DiGiovanni grew up in

Cain re-appointed as selectmen chairman

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Cain continues.

At its meeting on Tuesday, May 28, the Board of Selectmen handed the chairmanship to Robert Cain for the second consecutive year.

The re-organization of the board, which took place near the finish of the meeting, kicked off with a nomination for the position by Selectman Raymond Lepore for Michael McCoy. Selectman McCoy seconded the motion.

Selectman Robert Palmer had his own choice for a candidate and nominated Selectman Cain, a nod that was seconded by Selectman Scott Garratt.

In the end, a vote was taken and Cain emerged as the majority's choice for chairman. Cain voted for himself, as did Selectmen Garratt and Palmer. McCoy cast a vote in his own favor as well, and Lepore supported it with his own.

"I thank the board for its confidence," said Chairman Cain. "I hope to strive and do a good job and be fair to everybody."

Ever hear of Friends' Beans?

By LARZ F. NEILSON

WILMINGTON - Route 93 changed everything.

The years following World War II saw Wilmington in a period of rapid growth. Farmland became subdivisions as men, home from the war, started families and built homes.

But the greatest change to the geography of Wilmington was the building of Route 93. And nowhere was there greater change than on Ballardvale Street.

Ballardvale Street today is a four-lane road serving as a busy industrial thoroughfare. Fifty years ago, it was a sleepy farm lane that ran from Salem Street to the Andover town line. The road began right next to the old North School, a little red schoolhouse next to Caleb Harriman's large hayfield. Boy Scouts would meet at the old schoolhouse and hike to Camp Forty Acres, which had an access trail onto Ballardvale Street in Andover. It was possible to walk the entire length of Ballardvale Street and encounter only one or two cars.

The construction of Route 93 cut Ballardvale Street into several parts, including one stretch that for many years could be seen running through the woods in the middle of one of the ramps.

One of the largest farms on Ballardvale Street was Friends' Farm. It was located on both sides of the road, near where the Charles River Breeding Labs are today. The farm was owned by the Friend brothers, Victor, Leslie and Robert, who also owned 48 bakery stores, three bakery plants in Melrose, Lynn and Boston and a beanery in the Maplewood section of Malden. The brand name of Friends' Beans still exists today, although it has been sold many times over.

The Friend brothers bought the farm in 1920 to serve as a piggery. They collected stale baked goods from their bakeries and took them to the farm where they were fed to pigs. The pigs then became the pork in the baked beans.

The Friends bought the place from Joseph Stack, who had farmed it for many years. Two of Stack's daughters lived out their years in Wilmington. Ethel Williams and Florence O'Donnell lived in a little house on Andover Street next to Ainsworth Road.

The Friend brothers hired a man named Bill Rodden to run the farm. He had worked at Lowell General Hospital before

Young man loses life in Route 495 accident

WILMINGTON - The life of a young man from Wilmington was claimed during an automobile accident that occurred on Route 495 in Andover last Friday morning.

At approximately 5 a.m. on Friday, May 24, Jeffrey Flores, 18, was travelling southbound in the left lane of Route 495 when his 1994 Mitsubishi Gallant went off the road as it approached the intersection at Route 93. Flores' vehicle struck the median guardrail, continued on to hit the pillar of the nearby bridge and came to a stop in the grass on the other side of the road.

Emergency personnel responded to the scene and rushed Flores to Lawrence Memorial Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

According to state police, Flores was not wearing his seatbelt at the time of the accident. Currently, the state police department is in the process of determining the circumstances that led to the fatality.

Flores, the son of Joey and Eleanor Flores, grew up in Winchester and moved to Wilmington with his family a few months ago. He was a senior at Austin Prep in Reading, where he participated in three sports.

Services in Flores' memory were held at Lane Funeral Home in Winchester on Wednesday, May 29.

Hear ye, hear ye!

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - The Town Crier has gone multimedia.

First, your local family newspaper launched its own website earlier this year. Now, through the efforts of the staff at Wilmington Community Television (WCTV) and a couple of volunteers, The Town Crier has made the jump to television as well.

Last winter, WCTV Director Ruth Kennedy came up with an idea for a weekly show in which volunteers throughout the community would read aloud various articles that will have been published in the most recent edition of the Town Crier.

The intended demographic for the program? The visually impaired in the community who are interested in staying on top of recent developments in Wilmington but cannot read about them in the newspaper themselves.

Fast forward to Monday, May 20. With the direction of WCTV Membership Coordinator Donna Gacek, the tentatively titled "Town Crier: Audio News" made its debut.

"Everyone's pretty enthusiastic about the program," says Gacek.

Since the show is still in its infancy, it could be subject to some changes in the weeks to come, but so far the format has been straightforward. The Town Crier logo, which can be seen at the top of the front page of every edition, appears on screen. For the first 20 minutes of the half-hour show, a WCTV volunteer can be heard reading highlights and excerpts from the news articles and feature stories that appear on the front page of the most recent edition of the paper. During the final ten minutes of the program, the volunteer reads various announcements about local developments and upcoming events that can be found inside the paper.

At the moment, weekly editorials and letters to the editor are not included among the

Scientific "experiment" leads to day in court

By JAKE PETERSON

WILMINGTON - A small explosive found behind the Middle School on Carter Lane has been determined to have been an act of scientific curiosity that has resulted in a lucky outcome for the young experimenter's safety but also a hard-learned lesson about the law.

It was on Friday, May 17, that a student at the Middle School decided to experiment with an explosive combination of chemicals. The 14-year-old local youth had learned about an experiment that his sibling had been studying in science class that was meant to teach students about simple rocket propulsion. However, this young man decided to take the experiment to another level.

According to Wilmington

Police Chief Bernard Nally, the young man filled six common soda bottles full of two or more volatile chemicals and waited for the reaction, which indeed involved an explosion in the field behind the Middle School on the night of May 17. The youth was reportedly alone at the time. After the experiment, the youth went home without

MILITARY ESCORT. Tewksbury teenager James Gaffney, 13, got a ride to the center of town in a military Humvee, so that he could make the Memorial Day Parade on time on Monday, May 27. James was standing outside of his home on East Street when the jeep passed by and Sergeant First Class John Rondeau, right, of Worcester, agreed to let him hitch a ride. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

Seniors are off to Hampton Beach

TEWKSBURY - Departure time for the May 31 day trip to Yoken's Restaurant and Hampton Beach is 10:30 a.m. Home pickups will begin around 9:45 p.m.

Departure time for the Cape Cod walking rally trip of Wednesday, June 5 is 8:30 a.m. from the Senior Center. Home pickups will begin at 8 a.m.

Joe Santoro is ready to begin bocce games at the Senior Center. Why not come on down at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday and have a game or two...weather permitting.

Tara Coakley from Rep. Miceli's office will be at the Senior Center Friday, June 7 from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

The Senior Center monthly Cootie Party will also be held on the 7th of June. Therefore, you will want to mark your calendars for that date. The activity begins at 12:45 p.m.

The next Senior Center Breakfast Benefit will be held Sunday, June 9 from 7:30 to 11. The public is welcome to attend. Tickets are available at the door at the following prices: adults $4, children under 12, $2 and toddlers free. The menu includes: pancakes, scrambled eggs, bacon, home fries, beans, cinnamon bread and beverages.

Those senior citizens who participate in Mrs. Friedman's class program at the Trahan School are reminded that the children will be visiting the Senior Center Tuesday, June 11 at 11:15 a.m. If you have been part of this program but are unable to be at the Senior Center when the children visit, please contact Carol Hazel with this information. Thank you.

A day trip to the Mohegan Sun has been planned for Wednesday, June 19. The cost is $19 per person. Tickets are now available.

Tickets are also available for the next Senior Center monthly dance that will be held Friday, June 21. The evening will include a buffet and music by the Perfect Match Band.

The Town Sewer Committee will hold a public meeting at the Senior Center Thursday, June 20, beginning at 7 p.m. to discuss the new sewer program, the Betterment Program. All Tewksbury homeowners are welcome to attend this meeting especially our senior citizen home owners. This program will come before town meeting sometime in the near future.

The program will obligate residents to pay a fee when the sewer goes by his or her house. This fee will be approximately $10,000 but can be placed as a lien on one's home. The program will ensure that all residents will be able to hook up to the sewer system in approximately seven to eight years as opposed to 20 plus years.

It would be very wise to attend this meeting and hear about the pros and cons of the proposal. If enough seniors are interested in transportation, the COA will provide a bus or private rides.

The seniors will hold a Giant Yard Sale and Senior Version of the Antique Roadshow Saturday, June 29. Table space, which is going fast, is still available for $10 per space. For more information or to reserve a table, call Carol Hazel at 978-640-4480. The yard sale will be held rain or shine and will also feature a bake sale table and luncheon specials.

A pleasant week is wished to all. God Bless America.

Shriners will hold blood drive this weekend

WILMINGTON — The Aleppo Shriners of Wilmington are sponsoring a blood drive to help the Red Cross build up the state supplies.

Red Cross nurses will be at Shriners Auditorium, Sat., June 1, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The blood giving campaign is extended to the public and to the members of the Shrine. "Our building is open all day as we celebrate our 25 years in Wilmington," said Shriner Leon Golden of Lynnfield. "There will be beverages and refreshments for the blood donors."

"Our guests will be able to see the inner workings of the Shriners building," said Golden, a Shiner for over 20 years.

Shiners and Masons care about giving blood to the Red Cross. It is part of the Masonic tradition in Massachusetts. They are the largest body of people giving regularly to the local lodge appeals for blood.

Shiners Auditorium is on Fordham Road, at the junction of exit 39 (1-93) and Concord Rd. For information, call 781, 665-6466. Ext. 16.

PENSION PLAN HELP FOR SMALL BUSINESSES

With all the talk about 401(k) and other employer-sponsored retirement vehicles, it may be a surprise to learn that less than 25 percent of workers in small businesses—those with fewer than 100 employees—are covered by such plans. In most cases, the business owners describe the plans as too expensive and complicated to administer.

Now the government has made small-business retirement plans more attractive and less expensive with a tax credit of 50 percent or costs—up to a maximum of $500 a year for the first three years of the plan. The tax break is available only to those companies with no more than 100 employees, but it will cover any type of qualified retirement plan: 401(k), SIMPLE, SEP-IRA or traditional pension.

Small firms hope that the now-affordable retirement plans will help them retain staff and reduce turnover.

Small firms count on the know-how of our tax-and-finance people at

HER HERO. Katlyn Duncan, 13, of Wilmington, visited the grave of her maternal grandfather at the Wildwood Cemetery on Memorial Day. Her grandfather, Corporal Donald J. Lynch, was in the Marine Corps during World War II. Born on May 4, 1925, he passed away on December 31, 1992. Katlyn has a few distinctions of her own: She recently won three medals in an Irish step dancing event. On Monday, she brought her medals to show them to her grandfather, who was a fan of Irish step dancing. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

What Is A Hero?

In every age since time began, in every earthly place
There have been heroes of all kinds throughout the human age.
Each person has their concept of whom their heroes are
For some, it's those who have great strength; for some, it's a famous star.
For some, it's one whose brain I.Q. surpasses that of others
For some, it's a family member - father, mother, sisters, brothers.
For some, it's a favorite teacher who helped them learn and rise above
Or perhaps a godly preacher who taught them that God is love.
For some, it is an athlete who possesses grace, skill, and speed
Or perhaps an anonymous donor who quietly met a need.
For some, it's a perfect stranger who helped them when they were lost
Or someone who gave to charity and didn't count the cost.
For some, it's a nurse or a doctor to whom you owe your very breath
Or a firefighter or rescue team that saved you from certain death.
For some, it's a bold adventurer who's ventured forth afar
Or perhaps a valiant soldier who has risked their life at war.
For some, it's those who battle things like prejudice or crime
Whose unwavering convictions will withstand the test of time.
For some, it's a friend or neighbor who is always there for you Whom you know you can trust no matter what, because they are true-blue.
For some, it is 'the little folks' who've dared to take a stand Against an adversary and have gained the upper hand.
For some, it's those who reach out when we've feeling disconnected
For some, it's those who save the day when faced with the unexpected.
Yes, heroes are all around us; every day they're being made
They dare to do what must be done despite being afraid.
There's a hero within each of us, no matter what our age
From the youngest of the young right on up to the wisest sage.
So believe in yourself, no matter what, 'cause someday by surprise
Your very own words and actions may make you a hero in someone's eyes.

And upon this rock...

by g.d. sullivan

There was a small city-state that was a nation unto itself. It was ruled by a compassionate monarch who was isolated from the outside world by its princes. Unlike any country in the world this was mostly a single-sex nation where the few women allowed only served in a subservient role.

The society was a caste system with a very distinctive hierarchy and few in this society had any say in its governance. Less than a hundred men had the right to vote and then only upon the death of the monarch. This nation had its own laws and its members enjoyed a unique immunity unprecedented throughout the global community. Only one religion was practiced in this small state.

In spite of all of this, no other nation questioned the issues of equality, rights of women or raised the question of human rights, especially toward children. Yet this country was recognized throughout the world and its leader welcomed in even the most hostile of nations.

Then one day a child raised his voice and then another and then a third until hundreds of children began to speak out. They dared challenge the princes of this nation and those who did its work throughout the world. They questioned the diplomatic immunity of the members from that small city-state.

With time the children overpowered that small nation and brought about changes that no adult could have foreseen.

It has been said that "power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely". When the powerful became consumed with themselves to the point that they believed the institution of their state was more important than its people - then it became time for a change.

Time to remove immunity from the powerful...
Time to re-examine the "way it has always been done..."
Time to replace the old Law with a new one...
Time to put Faith back in the hands of God...
If only those in power had understood the might of a child!

Surrendered to technology

Bet the first thing you do when you come in the door is check your phone messages. Right? You may even have a fax at home. Then there is that glance over to the computer (of course it's on) to see how many e-mails are waiting.

If "staying in touch" has become a monkey on your back, I have three important books to tell you about.

"Amusing Ourselves to Death" by Neil Postman, written in 1985 is as timely today as it was the day that it was written. Postman talks about Orwell's book "1984" and about his dark vision for our future. Ultimately, the year 1984 passed without much notice. But then Postman goes on to remind us of Huxley's equally chilling Brave New World. Huxley predicted a society where people would come to adore the technologies that undo their capacity to think. Orwell feared that books would be banned, but Huxley knew that wouldn't be necessary, for there would be no one who wanted to read. (Starting to hit home!) On top of the list of man's insatiable need to be amused is the television. Postman explores how the media onslaught has shaped politics, religion, education and journalism into show business. In Chapter 4 Postman tells of the famous seven debates between Abraham Lincoln and Stephen Douglas in 1858. Douglas spoke first for One hour, Lincoln was allowed an Hour and a Half to reply.

So, how's your attention span? When was the last time you had an in-depth, interesting conversation with an interesting friend on some issue or idea? "Communicating" in my opinion has become a self-perpetuating nightmare. "Amusing Ourselves to Death" is a serious book, but it's easy reading and has somehow managed to be funny, too.

Whether you are a technophile or a neo-luddite, like David Shenk's "Data Smog" is a must read. Shenk makes the point that information is not necessarily knowledge or wisdom, and that overload does nothing but dull the mind; that the glut of information no longer adds to our quality of life, but instead cultivates stress, confusion, and frustration. Shenk will make you take a second look at the meaninglessness of "too much of a good thing." I know, I know, this sounds like a dry-as-dirt textbook, but it's not. The chapters are short and within each chapter sections are highlighted, making flipping through easy. You really don't have to read every word to get the message. Even if you only skim "Data Smog" the bothersome prospect of too much information will be clear. The Houston Chronicle put it best: If you're looking for a survival guide for the information age, this is your book.

Now for my favorite. There is no question in my mind that the very best book written in 1996 was "The Minutes of the Lead Pencil Club." I guarantee that you will not be able to put this book down - I read it from cover to cover in one sitting. What differentiates the LPC from the others is that it is at times hilarious while still being deadly serious and thought provoking. Letters, essays, cartoons and commentary on how to live contraption free in a computer-crazed world hits the nail on the head with a sledgehammer. Along the side of (almost) every page are quotes and small passages by the very well-known and the not-at-all known contributors who have had enough of electronic madness. To name a few of the well known Dave Barry, John Updike, Annie Proulx, Ted Koppel and Alvin Toffler.

The pencil is the symbol of their motto "Not So Fast." Some of you may have seen me in my Lead Pencil Club T-Shirt. Across the back it says Simplify, Simplify - on the front, under the picture of a lead pencil are the words, "The Lead Pencil Club, a pothole on the information highway!"

Letters to the Editor

Many thanks for promenade's success

Dear Editor:
The WHS Senior Promenade took place Friday, May 17. It was a wonderful opportunity to present the WHS Senior Class members to the community. The high school Parent Advisory Committee worked hard to coordinate this event so that friends and family could see the prom-goers on such a special night and also so that the occasion could be recorded for the seniors themselves.

We would like to thank Don and Virginia Hill of Designs by Don for once again lending us the arbor through which the attendees promenade. We would also like to thank the high school custodians for their help in setting up the gym, Mrs. King for announcing the seniors and their guests, and Chris Neville for videotaping the procession.

A special thank you goes to those dedicated PAC members who always volunteer their time to make sure these special events take place. Without their efforts, the children of our community would leave high school without the fond memories of these traditions.

Sincerely,

Mitchell song says it best

Dear Editor:
Regarding the matter of the Whitfield School, I am reminded of those words by Joanie Mitchell, "Don't it always seem to go that you don't know what you've got till it's gone. Take paradise, put up a parking lot." While we certainly can't compare the construction of a new, state-of-the-art library with the creation of a parking lot, it's still the same mindset that would wantonly destroy a rare historical treasure in order to get "the biggest bang for the buck." After all, even MasterCard acknowledges that some things are priceless.

It is unfair to mandate a bogus choice between the library and historic preservation. Cultural institutions should not be in competition with each other. This is not about the library. And this is not about the preservation of historical buildings really. This is about the preservation of those values that were instilled in us which now seem to be so sorely endangered. This is about the unique essence of Wilmington. And this is about both the right and the responsibility of the members of the community as a whole to be good stewards of their collective cultural heritage.

But perhaps there is a way to commemorate our heritage and still get the biggest bang for the buck. Maybe we could go around to all those places where symbols of our precious heritage have been lost, and just install some blue strobe lights to rise like ghosts in the clear night sky. Beside each one we can place a little plaque that simply says, Once upon a time ... Oh, and while we're at it, might as well put up a parking lot.

Sincerely,
Diana (Imbimbo) Miladin

UPS honors Steve Solombrino for safety

WILMINGTON - Steve Solombrino of Wilmington, a delivery driver for United Parcel Service, was recently recognized by the company for completing 15 years of driving without an accident. Solombrino works out of the UPS facility located at Kimball Avenue, Lynnfield. He presently provides delivery service in the community of Wakefield.

"You must anticipate what each motorist might do and drive defensively," said Solombrino of his 15 years of safe driving. "UPS has taught me the safe driving skills I need to safely conduct my job. It is a never ending challenge to drive defensively and serve my customers on a timely basis. I also use these skills to keep my family safe in our private vehicles.

Supervisor Glen Backe presented the 15 year safe driving award at a ceremony honoring Solombrino's achievement.

Solombrino and his wife Cheryl live in Wilmington and have six children: Stacey, 29; Jeffrey, 27; Chrisy, 21; Jarred, 20; Adam 18 and Siobhan 17.

Imbriglio a member of UMF team

TEWKSBURY - Adam Imbriglio one of eight University of Maine at Farmington business students who recently captured first place in a regional business competition and are reaching for a similar prize at the national level.

A few weeks ago the group participated in the Northeast competitive career fair at Cromwell, Conn., sponsored by Students in Free Enterprise, a global organization that promotes leadership training and career opportunities for college students enrolled in business programs.

The UMaine Farmington team walked away with first place in its division and was the only team from Maine that will now enter the national Students in Free Enterprise Fair.

More than 130 works expected at Art Council's annual show

WILMINGTON - The applications are ready for the 22nd annual Art Show sponsored by the Wilmington Arts Council. Our show is the biggest event of the year at the Arts center.

Over 130 pieces of art are expected. These include photography, watercolors, oil painting, acrylics, pastels, pencil work, pen and ink, student work and sometimes sculpture! We have five categories with ribbons for each one.

The top prize in each category comes with a $25.00 award. The Arts Council has a special prize for their favorite - the Council's Choice Award. The show this year will hold a reception on Friday night, June 28, for the artists, their friends and families. The show will be open Saturday, June 29 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday, June 30, from 1 to 4 p.m.

The applications are available at the Town Hall, the library and the Arts Center.

If you have entered the show in 2000 or 2001, an application will be sent to you. For more information, call Jane Crane at 978-658-9798.

In other news, the Wilmington Arts Council has announced the 2002 recipients of the grant money from the Massachusetts Cultural Council. The Wilmington Arts Council receives over $6000 to be distributed among various groups for the benefit of the town of Wilmington. The Council makes sure that each segment of the population receives that benefit.

The Library will receive funds to pay for the passes to the MFA and the Gardner Museum, plus a fashion show. The Council will also sponsor a Concert on the Common for the Recreation Department. The Senior Center will have a concert "Celebrating New England." The North Regional Theater Group will have their sound equipment paid for.

The schools are not left out. The North Side Pac, the Wilmington Middle School, the Shawsheen West Pac will all receive funds for their school enrichment programs. The Shawsheen Valley Technical High School will receive funding for field trips to the Boston Museums, as well as the West Intermediate School for a trip to the North Shore Music Theater. The Council had 22 applications for the grant money. It was able to help 14 groups.

Senior citizens ready to graduate from new police class

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Police Department and Wilmington Senior Center have announced the first ever graduation of approximately 20 senior citizens from the Developing Education Choices in Defensive Education (DECIDE) class on June 3 at 11 a.m. at the Wilmington Senior Center, 15 School Street.

The class was sponsored by a grant from the Executive Office of Public Safety, which was awarded to the Wilmington Police earlier this year. The class focuses on risk avoidance, defensive education, scam awareness and other various safety programs for senior citizens.

The program was taught by Wilmington Police Officers Patrick Nally, Stephen Mauriello, Julie Lambert and Brian Pupa in conjunction with DECIDE lead instructors Officer Susan Kale of the Cambridge Police Department and Officer Maureen Morrison of the Harvard University Police Department.

Another DECIDE class is tentatively planned for fall of 2002 and future announcements will be made to the public.

SUMMER IN THEIR SIGHTS. Students may not have had to go to school on Monday, but Christina Luciano, Carlie Lawrenson, Ashley Vitale and Nicole Savoia reported to Wilmington High School, anyway, if only so that they could catch a glimpse of the Memorial Day Parade. Next time off from school for the girls: summer vacation. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

DARE program saved

WILMINGTON - State Representative James Miceli has announced that he voted for a comprehensive amendment to the House Ways and Means budget that restored funding to important public safety programs.

The amendment funds community policing, the Registry of Motor Vehicles, Sheriff's Offices, and the Department of Corrections, all of which had been facing potentially disastrous budget cuts.

Additionally the amendment saved popular programs such as DARE and SAFE.

The funding restored by this amendment provides crucial resources to public safety programs.

Representative Miceli called the passage of this amendment "an important step in maintaining the well-being of our communities and neighborhoods."

95,000 mercury thermometers exchanged at pharmacies

BOSTON - Bob Durand, Secretary of Environmental Affairs, announced recently that the Swift Administration's recent mercury thermometer exchange collected more than 95,000 thermometers during a two week period. Durand made the announcement at an international conference on Mercury at the Hynes Convention Center.

Sponsored by the Executive Office of Environmental Affairs (EOEA) in partnership with the Massachusetts Pharmacists Association, Health Care Without Harm and Clean Air Action, residents exchanged their mercury thermometers for free safer digital thermometers at Walgreens, Brooks, Stop and Shop Pharmacies and independent pharmacy locations across the state.

As part of the program, participating pharmacies agreed to voluntarily remove mercury thermometers from their shelves. During the exchange program, Governor Swift signed into a law a bill banning the sale of mercury fever thermometers in Massachusetts.

"The Swift Administration successfully removed mercury in tens of thousands of Massachusetts households," said Secretary Durand. "This effort was a great step forward in eliminating mercury from our households and from our environment."

"By working with pharmacies we have spread the word about the health risks posed by Mercury," said Commissioner Lauren Liss of the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP). "The exchange helped provide people an easy way to make their homes safer and healthier places for their families."

"We applaud Secretary Durand on the Massachusetts initiative on this great success to remove the threat of harmful level of mercury in Massachusetts homes," said Tiffany Skogstrom from Health Care Without Harm. "Recent studies suggest that due to historic accidents with mercury containing devices, such as fever thermometers, up to 10 percent of households may have levels of airborne mercury above the US EPA reference concentration."

"This program was a significant step forward in our efforts to reduce the mercury that gets into our environment to contaminate the fish we eat," said John McNabb, Research & Policy Director, Clean Water Action. "We applaud the voluntary efforts of the participating pharmacies and look forward to future of mercury-free products."

In 1998, Massachusetts joined with the other New England states and the eastern Canadian Provinces in calling for a 50 percent reduction of man made mercury deposits by 2003. Since that time, Massachusetts has undertaken several initiatives aimed at reducing mercury, including:

*July 2000: Secretary Durand and Commissioner Howard Koh and the Department of Public Health unveils Mercury Reduction Strategy that calls for reducing emissions by 75 percent by 2010 with an ultimate goal of virtual elimination in the following years. Massachusetts is on target to meet these stringent goals.

*December 2000: Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) deadline for all incinerators and waste to energy plants to install technology to reduce mercury emissions. All plants met this deadline.

*January 2001: Secretary Durand signs Memorandum of Understanding with Massachusetts Dental Society to work on ways to remove mercury from dental amalgam from wastewater.

*April 2001: Governor Swift announces DEP's sweeping new pollution reduction regulations for state's oldest, dirtiest power plants. The regulations represent a first in the nation plan to reduce four major pollutants, nitrogen oxide, sulfur dioxide, carbon dioxide and mercury.

*January 2002: Secretary Durand kicks off the statewide mercury thermometer exchange.

*February 2002: Governor Swift signs bill banning the sale of mercury thermometers.

*April 2002: DEP begins reviewing power plant emission reduction plans.

Also, there is currently a comprehensive mercury products bill before the Massachusetts Legislature that would require the labeling, collection and eventual phase out of mercury containing products. For more information on the Massachusetts mercury reduction efforts, please call 1-866-9MER-CURY.

Facts About Mercury

*Mercury is very toxic. It can be more toxic than lead or arsenic.

*Accidental mercury releases in the home present a significant risk to human health.

*Mercury affects the human brain, kidneys and liver. Mercury also can affect fetal development, preventing the brain and nervous system from developing normally.

*Mercury in the environment contaminates fish, making native freshwater fish and some saltwater fish in Massachusetts unsafe for pregnant women and young children to eat. For more information on fish to avoid, visit the DPH website at www.state.ma.us/dph/beha/mercury/merchap.htm

Friends' book sale coming in June

WILMINGTON - The Friends of the Library Annual Book Sale will be held on the following dates:
Thursday June 20, 5 to 9 p.m.
"Members Night" (new members may join the Friends of the Library at the door).

Friday, June 21, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Saturday, June 22, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Take advantage of this opportunity to stock up on lots of books for your summer reading at bargain prices. Children's books will be available for sale on Friday and Saturday. Paperback books are fifty cents and hard covers only one dollar. This event is the Friends' major fundraiser. Your book buying supports the Friends' effort to improve library services and provide many wonderful programs for children and adults.

If you would like to donate books for the library sale, please call the library at 978-658-2967 before dropping off books. Please keep in mind the following guidelines in evaluating your donations. We can not accept old magazines, textbooks, Reader's Digest Condensed Books, water damaged or mildew books, books with missing covers, or encyclopedias that are more than three years old.

Upcoming Children's Programs

Sign up for the summer reading programs begins June 12.

Preparation for the annual summer reading program is underway! Library staff are busy planning exciting and fun programs to keep children reading all summer long. This year's statewide theme,

A Star Spangled Summer at Your Library, was chosen in April 2000 by librarians from across the Commonwealth. After September 11, 2001, this theme became more powerful and meaningful. A Star Spangled Summer at Your Library offers the opportunity to celebrate our great country. Through the power of reading, children in our community will gain an appreciation for the diversity and tolerance, tradition and innovation that defines the United States. Signup begins Wednesday, June 12.

Step into a Story
Papa Joe's Traveling Storytelling Show returns to the Wilmington Memorial Library by popular demand with a program especially for children ages three and under and their caregivers. Papa Joe provides this poem:

Here's your chance to see a show

Family Foundations Network is the sponsor here
And you are invited for the stories he'll share.

Friday, June 7th will be the date
It starts at 9:30. Please don't be late.

Tickets are required for the show, which is funded by the Massachusetts Department of Education, and may be reserved in person or by calling the Children's Room at 978-694-2098 beginning

Thursday, May 30.

Love and Logic: Magic for Early Childhood

Parents and caregivers of children ages two to four years are invited to a parent workshop presentation of the "Love and Logic Behavior Management for Children" parenting program to be held Wednesday, June 5 from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

This program is funded through the Family Foundations Network grant by the Massachusetts Department of Education. Tickets are required and may be reserved in person at the Children's Room or by calling 978-694-2098.

Artemis Fowl Book Discussion
Artemis Fowl by Eoin Colfer was chosen by the Kids Book Discussion group to be the book of discussion for Friday, May 31 at 3:30 p.m. All are welcome to attend.

Harry Potter Day
Mark your calendars for Thursday June 13 for Harry Potter Day at the library. Film times to be announced.

Young adult librarian
Welcome to Nathalie Demers, the new part-time Young Adult Librarian. Ms. Demers, a former library medial specialist, will be in charge of selecting books and other library materials for teens ages 12 to 18 and program planning for his age group. She will be the public library's liaison to the Wilmington Middle School and Wilmington High School. Teens are encouraged to stop by the library and meet Ms. Demers.

Deborah J. Monahan

IRS Employee from Tewksbury; 45

TEWKSBURY - Deborah J. (Bowser) Monahan, 45, an active supporter of youth sports in Tewksbury died Friday afternoon, May 24, 2002, at the Mass General Hospital in Boston, after suffering an brain aneurysm four weeks ago. She was the wife of John P. Monahan, with whom she would have celebrated a 25th wedding anniversary this August 7th.

She was born in Cambridge, Mass., on August 21, 1956, a daughter of Tina (Cicero) Bowser of Derry, NH, and the late George R. Bowser. She was raised in Cambridge, and lived in Chelsea, before moving to Tewksbury 15 years ago. She graduated from Chelsea High School in 1974.

She was active in Tewksbury Youth Soccer and Hockey, ran the snack bar at the Tewksbury Soccer fields, and also worked at the Janus Hockey Rink in Lowell while she was raising her family. She also enjoyed home decorative crafting and plastic canvas projects.

She became an employee of the I.R.S. in Andover 3 years ago, and was working when she suffered her aneurysm.

Besides her husband and mother, she is survived by a son, Kevin P. Monahan of Tewksbury, a daughter, Megan M. Monahan of Tewksbury, two sisters and brothers-in-law, Darlene and Robert Ligon of NH, Doreen and Frank Tremblay of Fla., and aunt and uncle, Theresa and Charles Bowser of Tewksbury, a father-in-law, Martin Monahan of Amesbury, three sisters-in-law and brothers-in-law Martin and Maureen (Silas) Monahan Jr. of Chelsea, Paul and Deborah (Sullivan) Monahan of Lowell, Florence and Daniel Iacona of Amesbury, and numerous nieces and nephews.

Funeral Mass Wednesday at 10:00 a.m. in St. William's Church, 1351 Main St. Tewksbury. Visiting hours were Tuesday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 in the funeral home. Interment in Tewksbury Cemetery. Memorials to the Brain Aneurysm Foundation, 295 Cambridge St. Boston, MA 02114 will be appreciated.

Jessica E Syring

Middle School seventh grader; formerly of Woburn; at 13

WILMINGTON - Jessica E. Syring, 13, of Wilmington, died May 25, 2002 at Children's Hospital in Boston.

Born in Winchester, she was the beloved daughter of Bryan L. and Deborah J. (Herweck) Syring. She lived in Woburn prior to moving to Wilmington six years ago. Jessica was currently a member of the seventh grade class at the Wilmington Middle School.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by her sister Brianne Syring and her brother, Derek Syring, both of Wilmington; her paternal grandparents Richard and Ruth (Doe) Syring of Woburn; her maternal grandfather Arnold Herweck and his wife Shirley of Fall River; her aunts and uncles, William Herweck of Woburn, David Syring and his wife Debra of Woburn, and Teresa McAllister and her husband Mark of Londonderry, N.H. and many cousins.

Jessica was also the granddaughter of the late Joan (Nicoli) Herweck of Tewksbury.

Her funeral is scheduled to be held from the W.S. Cavanaugh & Son Funeral Home, 374 Main St. (Rt. 38), Wilmington Thursday morning at 8:45, followed by a funeral mass at St. Thomas Church at 10:00 and interment in Wildwood Cemetery.

Bicycle helmets available

WILMINGTON - The Kiwanis Club of Wilmington has again supplied the firefighters and safety building with bicycle safety helmets. As a service to the community the Kiwanis Club is selling these helmets at $10 each.

If you or your child needs a helmet, stop by the new Public Safety building on Adelaide Street and ask the dispatcher on duty for a firefighter to get and fit a helmet. The firefighters are trained to make sure the helmet fits properly.

A cracked or broken helmet should be replaced, as it will not provide the protection that a new one can offer. Also, a helmet is only good for about three years as the inner padding (styrofoam) breaks down. For this reason helmets should not be passed down to younger siblings. No one should ride a bike, scooter, skateboard, or roller blades without a helmet. Even toddlers on tricycles and big wheels should wear one. One fall can injure anyone. One does not necessarily have to crash with a car to injure their head.

Membership in the Kiwanis Club of Wilmington is open to any adult who lives or works in the Wilmington area. For more information on the Club, joining the Club or assisting the Club in their service to the community, call Club Secretary, Don Rich at 978-658-5568.

Golden Age Club celebrates 35th installation

TEWKSBURY-The Tewksbury Golden Age Club celebrated its 35th installation. Several new members were installed to the Board of Directors for the next two years. With a great catered dinner by Jack's of Billerica and delightful music by D.J. America Larry Gilbert and Janet Hickey. A great time was had by all.

Thanks are in order for the remaining members of the GAC for all their hard work in the past year. Gratitude is offered, as well, to all of the Committees that have worked so hard in the past. No one person can make this club run as smoothly as this without the help of everyone else. Thank you all.

Now we have to look forward to the next two years. We will start by having a GAC meeting June 11 with the new board. Also that day, we need to be reminded that your new membership is due. Those renewing know that the fee is $8 for the period of June 2002 to June 2004. For those of you wishing to join, one must be a resident of Tewksbury, 60 years of age or older. Any spouse between the ages of 55 and 60 years may become a member without voting privileges. Also, please be reminded that if we do not have your picture in our files, we will be taking them when you renew or sign up for membership.

Also be reminded that the trip to Quebec July 28-31 still has some openings and is filling up fast. Don't be left out. Final payments for this trip will be June 26.

Our trips so far this year have been awesome. The last one was an 11 day trip through the Panama Canal. Just look around the Senior Center and see all those smiling faces and beautiful tanned faces and you will know who went on this trip. A wonderful 11 day trip on a beautiful ship. We'll be talking about this one for a long time.

In the past few weeks we have lost several of our members. Our deepest sympathies to the families of Mary Mackey, Bob Mailer, Hilary McMahon, Ann Grant. They will all be sadly missed. Also our sympathies to our members Bernie Lynch for the loss of her sister, Tom MacPherson for the loss of a sister, Carolyn French for the loss of a brother.

Happy birthday and happy anniversary to everyone celebrating this month.

Petitioners push for library at Swain School

Such figures are tentative in that some signatures may appear more than once between the three petitions and all names have to be approved by Town Clerk Kay Scanlon as being those of registered voters.

By law, citizens need a petition bearing at least 200 valid signatures if they wish to call a Special Town Meeting. From there, the petitioners need at least 100 such names for each article that is intended for the meeting.

Selectmen Chairman Robert Cain agreed to hand the petitions over to Town Clerk Scanlon so that they may be inspected by her and receive a decision that will be ultimately rendered by the Board of Registrars. Town Counsel Michael Newhouse will also review all three petitions and determine whether or not they are each legally sound.

If the three petitions do indeed pass muster, then the Board of Selectman is required by law to call a Special Town Meeting within 45 days. According to Scanlon, the Board of Registrars could reach its decision about the petitions on or by its next meeting on Monday, June 10. Such a date also marks the next time that the selectmen will convene.

Once presented at the selectmen meeting, the three petitions were greeted with a mix of controversy and support.

Proponents of the effort, such as Sullivan and Woodbury, want the new library to be erected at the Swain School site because it would keep the facility near the Town Common and would, they feel, better fit the vision of the Master Plan to anchor the community's civic life in the center of town. In addition, those in favor of the proposals believe that the Whitefield School is a poor location for the new library because they feel it is isolated, unsafe, difficult to access and worthy of historical preservation.

In contrast, opponents to the petition, such as Library Director Tina Stewart, feel that the Whitefield School is a perfect location for a new facility because it has been deemed as such by professional consultants who have recommended that site over three others that were explored. Furthermore, some residents who attended the meeting did not want to see the vote on Article 29 be overturned. (The vote to approve the Whitefield School location was a close one, coming in at 151 to 146.) And, additionally, some opponents noted that the figure to approve $550,000 at the Town Meeting cannot be reliably applied to a study for the Swain School because it had been calculated to reflect the financial needs that are specific to the Whitefield School location.

Selectmen Michael McCoy and Raymond Lepore spoke in favor of the petitions. McCoy reiterated his support for the "concept" of a new library while renewing his plea that the Whitefield School should be used for elderly housing.

Selectman Robert Palmer disagreed with the ideas presented in the petitions by noting that residents took approximately two hours to carefully debate the issues surrounding the new library at the town meeting. Selectman Scott Garratt called the petitions "categorically unfair" in that they propose that the Special Town Meeting be held in the summertime, most likely during July, when residents tend to be involved with their families and less available. (Garratt himself will be on vacation in July.)

materials that are read. For that to happen, "Town Crier: Audio News" would have to expand its length, a development that is not in the cards at the moment.

So far, the program has been scheduled to be taped in the WCTV studio on Middlesex Avenue on Thursday mornings. Broadcasts, the times of which are also tentative, are slated for 3:30 p.m. on Mondays; 3 p.m. on Tuesdays; 12:30 p.m. on Wednesdays; and 5 p.m. on Thursdays. The show can be found on Channel 9.

"Town Crier: Audio News" is quickly building up its cast of regular readers. Wilmington resident Kathleen Black-Reynolds will routinely offer her voice to the show. So too will Michelle Houle, who is the news director for AT&T 3 News, a cable news channel that is carried in Tewksbury, Billerica, Dracut, Chelmsford and Lowell. Gacek and WCTV Training and Production Coordinator Jessica Wilson also lend their storytelling talents to the mix.

"We welcome guest readers," says Gacek.

Anyone interested in breaking into television, so to speak, can call Gacek at WCTV during the week at 978-657-4066.

Scientific "experiment" leads to day in court

injury and with all of his fingers still attached.

On the following Monday, May 20, a janitor at the Middle School found a small scorched area in the field that had tiny pieces of the soda bottles around it. The janitor alerted the Wilmington Police Department, and authorities then followed standard procedure and contacted the State Bomb Squad Team and the fire marshal. After an investigation that included the participation of Juvenile Officer Pat King, the youth was located and the details of his brief career as a scientist were revealed.

In response to the incident, Chief Nally cannot stress enough the dangers of tampering with chemicals and explosives. According to Nally, the ignition point and subsequent explosion of such chemical mixes are extremely difficult to predict.

"This is a very, very dangerous business," says Chief Nally. "This youth is lucky because he could have been burned, blinded, or lost a hand or finger."

In the near future, the youth is expected to make an appearance in juvenile court, where he will face charges for his amateur pyrotechnics.

Ever hear of Friends' Beans?

coming to the farm.

Two of the Friend brothers would come to the farm about every other day. Rodden was clearing land, and the Friends would dynamite the stumps and boulders. They cleared about 100 acres, opening a large field between Ballardvale Street and the railroad tracks.

Victor Friend built a summer cottage on the right side of the street, up on the hill. He built a tower next to the cottage, and from the tower, you could see the Congregational Church. With binoculars, you could see the clock.

Rodden had four daughters. The oldest was Dorothy, and she married Phil Park. They had 21 children, raised in a rather spartan environment in a small house on Ballardvale Street.

Every day, the stale baked goods would arrive by horse and wagon. One young man hired to drive that wagon was Maurice O'Neil, whose uncle, John MacKenzie, was the superintendent of plants for the Friends' bean operations.

Maurice, known as "Dice", married the youngest of Bill Rodden's daughters, Josephine. They lived on High Street, and she was named as one of Wilmington's "Good Guys" about 25 years ago. Dice sold cars for Gildart Chevrolet, and later became a clerk at the Water Department. Dice and Jo had no children, but he liked to say he always had plenty of nephews to mow the lawn.

When the Depression hit, the Friend brothers had some of the help build a brick silo in the field. Brick is not a good material for a silo, since air is needed for bacterial action in the silage. But the silo was actually an advertising piece. They put the Friends Beans logo on the silo, and thousands of people would see it every day as they rode by on the train.

The remains of the silo were demolished about 20 years ago when the farm was developed into an industrial park.

Bill was at one time a candidate for selectman in Wilmington. He died in 1934, after which his widow moved to Reading with Josephine.

The farm was sold to Bob Evans in the late 1930's. Evans, who died last month, had a chicken farm down the street.

Between the two farms, he had a couple of hundred acres. Evans had a man working for him named Albie Hall. At one point there was a fire in the Evans' farmhouse, and Albie went to live in a trailer at Friends' Farm. While he was there, he painted a view of the farm.

Evans rented out the farmhouse at Friends' farm. The Shelleys lived there in 1909 - not the recently retired Officer Bob Shelley, but his cousins, Mike, Bob, Joanne and Margaret. In the mid-1960's, an arsonist was busy in Wilmington. The town lost many of its old homes and barns, and Friends' Farm was among the places that were torched.

Who will replace Nora Zinan?

Wilmington and will soon be entering his senior year as a student at Babson College in Wellesley.

"Students today face many challenges," said DiGiovanni. "I would like to be a part of the solution and decision-making to enable our students to face those challenges."

In her letter to Chairman Cain, Lamson, who is the mother of three children, noted her active participation in Middle School, High School and Town-wide PACs. Lamson also referred to her steady attendance at School Committee meetings during the past two years.

"My perspective as a parent, volunteer and observer in our school system would provide valuable insight into our children's education experience," said Lamson. "While Wilmington has made significant progress in many areas, including class size and technology, I feel there are still important issues, including curriculum and staff development, to be addressed."

In related developments, at the request of School Committee member Barbara Breaky, it has been determined by Town Counsel Michael Newhouse that the committee need not re-organize itself as a result of Zinan's resignation and impending replacement.

Dick Scanlon Memorial unveiling Over 150 people pay tribute to their friend

By PAUL HAYES
Sports Correspondent

During his lifetime, Richard J. "Dick" Scanlon held various titles, including teacher, coach and school committee member. But most people commonly referred to him as "friend."

And by the looks of it, he had a lot of friends. Over 150 people gathered at Wilmington High School on Saturday for the unveiling of the Dick Scanlon Memorial on the field which has been named after him.

Those in attendance ranged from town officials to fellow coaches, family to students.

"I think all of us in the Town of Wilmington were friends with the Scanlon family," said Selectman Bob Cain. "I would like to thank them for sharing Dick Scanlon with us."

The granite marker is located next to the Wilmington High home dugout, in the corner where Coach Scanlon stood during games, and is affixed with a bronze memorial plaque. The inscription concludes with "He taught us to live on and off the field."

"I'm so very pleased with today," said Dick's wife, Town Clerk Kay Scanlon. "Dick would have really liked this, he loved this baseball field. We miss him a lot."

Dick Scanlon, who died last year following a lengthy illness, did not begin to make an impact in Wilmington until he was in his mid-30's. He left the pharmaceutical industry when he was 35 years old and began to teach psychology and sociology at Wilmington High. He taught at WHS for 31 years before retiring in 1999. He was voted the Teacher of the Year ten times.

His baseball career began at Wakefield High and he continued on to Boston College. He began coaching at Austin Prep and Wakefield before taking over the Wilmington High baseball team in 1980, and in his final game he recorded his milestone 300th win.

In 1982 he was also named coach of the Wildcat soccer team. In the 1997-'98 school year, he led both teams to their respective Eastern Massachusetts Championship games.

After retiring as a teacher, he was elected to the Wilmington school committee. Whether he was teaching, coaching or setting school policy, his attention was always on helping "his kids." Over the years he gained a reputation as a good listener and problem solver, someone the students could confide in and trust. His dedication to helping Wilmington's youth never waned.

"During his last four years, he was sick," said Wilmington High Athletic Director Jim Gillis, who hired Scanlon as baseball coach in 1979. "But all he talked about were kids and family."

Those who spoke on Sunday remembered Scanlon as kind and honest, and above all strong. He was a man of integrity. Longtime umpire Sonny Robbins attested to Scanlon's character, recounting a game played several years ago against Dracut, during a snowstorm.

Wilmington led the game after four and a half innings, and had the option to end the game and collect the win. But Scanlon had other ideas.

"Coach Scanlon said 'Sonny, you're not gonna call the game. Dracut deserves a chance,'" said Robbins. "He wasn't looking to get the quick win."

Coach Scanlon's sense of fair play was just one reason he was respected by opposing coaches. Pentucket High athletic director and Cape Ann League representative Dave Morse described his first encounter with Coach Scanlon, at a 1996 coaches meeting.

"I realized Dick Scanlon needed no introduction," said Morse. "I was impressed with his humble presentation, positive attitude, appearance of soft spoken toughness, and his ability to offer logical solutions."

Continued Morse: "This man we honor today had the utmost respect of players, peers and opponents."

The Cape Ann League has renamed their most valuable player award in Coach Scanlon's honor. In addition, the Wilmington High baseball field has been renamed Scanlon Field, and the Richard J. "Dick" Scanlon Scholarships will award $1,000 each to the male and female student who best personifies the traits so often associated with Coach Scanlon: courage, humility and competitive spirit.

Coach Scanlon's legacy of community service lives on through his family, including Kay and his sons Steve and Richard. Steve has coached Wilmington High hockey for 10 years, and took over for his father as coach of the soccer team; and Richard is the principal assessor for the Town of Billerica.

Richard recalled his father as someone who was equally concerned with athletics and education. Coach Scanlon once kicked off the team future major league baseball star Jason Bere for poor grades. Eventually Bere raised his grades, and was reinstated.

Richard also injected some humor into the proceedings, recalling when his father would tell players the opposing second baseman was "prettier than your girlfriend," and "not to trip on a blade of grass in the field."

But on Sunday, a beautiful spring day with the temperature in the mid-70's, and the sky blue for miles in all directions, Richard said his father would have wanted to cut short the pomp and circumstance.

"He'd tell me to get on with this," said Richard. "We have baseball to play."

Foursome take second at Class C Meet

Relay team on its way to the all-states

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

PLYMOUTH - Heading into Saturday's Class C state meet at Plymouth South High School, the Wilmington boys track team felt confident that its 4x800 relay team could place high. Even though one of its runners, freshman Chris Murray was running along with Brian Schell, Shane Gaffney and Jason Gustin for just the third time this season, they all felt as if they could do something special. That they did.

The team comprised of a junior, two sophomores and a freshman finished second with a combined time of 8:31.50. They were runner-up to Tewksbury's team which comprised of a junior, a sophomore and two freshmen who combined to finish at 8:27.80. Wilmington's team ran very strong and were equally as impressive. They came across the finish line in front of several established track programs including Norwood, King Philip, Bishop Feehan and Burlington.

As a team Wilmington finished the meet in 12th place with 14 points, all of them coming from the relay race and Jason Gustin's third place finish in the 800. Bishop Feehan which finished in second place as a team behind Tewksbury, finished with 77 points, thus the Wildcat boy ran with some pretty good company.

"This relay team is really young. I expected for us to do well and go to the all-states," said Gustin, the team's anchor leg.

Both Gaffney and Murray ran strong legs keeping Wilmington among the front runners before giving the baton off to Schell and Gustin.

"I went out too fast," said Murray. "But by the end it was alright, it didn't hurt us."

Schell, the team's third leg, received the baton and quickly darted striding as best as he could.

"I tried to keep up with the runner from Norwood," he said. "On the second lap I was on the straightaway but I just couldn't catch him. But then Jason was able to pass a lot of teams."

Gustin took the baton and he stayed with the crowd over the first lap and a half. As he turned into the three-quarter turn on his last lap, he kicked into higher gear. He quickly passed two runners on the outside, before beating Norwood's anchor leg on the final straightaway for a very impressive 2:01 split. That surge was the team its second place finish and the chance to go another week to the all-states which is Saturday at Worcester State College.

"I was catching up to him slowly around the last 200," said Gustin, referring to the Norwood runner. "Once I passed him I knew he wasn't going to catch me."

Could he have caught Dan Sarsfield, the very talented Tewksbury anchor leg, perhaps with another straightaway?

"I could have caught him - I'm not sure what he had left," he said.

During that time, Murray, Gaffney and Schell were watching Gustin cruise. The three teammates were jumping up and down watching him excel. As he came across the finish line, Murray and Schell were quick to congratulate him, while, Gaffney was gearing up to run in the 4x100 relay race which was beginning very shortly.

"It's a good feeling," said Gustin about his relay finish and his third place in the 800 run (2:02.40). "I'm one of the better runners in the state. I'm not the best, but I'm one of the better ones."

And the 4x800 team is also one of the better teams in the state. Just imagine what they'll do next year with a little more experience under their belts?

WILMINGTON HIGH SENIOR CO-CAPTAIN NICK GENNETTI was one of the fortunate players to have played for Coach Dick Scanlon. Nick spoke on behalf of Scanlon, along with Jay Riley and Kyle Burns, two other members of this year's baseball team during the official Dick Scanlon Memorial Unveiling held on Saturday morning. # Just how far in the tourney will the teams go?

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

At the start of this spring season, I went out on a limb and predicted records of all of the baseball and softball teams. And now that the regular season has come to a close and the state tournament is beginning this week I figured to predict the winners of each of the brackets.

However, I must go back and reveal my numbers. Before I do that I must make fun of myself because I gave an additional game to the Tewksbury baseball and Shawsheen softball teams - so who taught me how to add?

I started off by saying the Tewksbury baseball team would finish 13-8. They enter this weekend's state tournament at 11-9 so two games off isn't so bad.

As for Wilmington baseball, well there was my big blunder. I wanted to be the nice guy and predict a winning record - I didn't want to be the jerk. But I won't make excuses. I predicted an 11-9 season and they finished 4-16. Ugh!

After Monday morning's Voc Tech tournament first round tournament win over Whittier Tech, the Shawsheen softball team improved to 20-2 with one game to go. I predicted 22-2. Not bad, eh?

Speaking of on target, I said the Wilmington softball team would finish at 14-4. On Monday night they defeated Masconomet to improve to 15-3. I didn't predict the Tewksbury softball team because at the time I didn't know who the pitcher was going to be.

And finally I did say that the Tewksbury boys track team would win the small school conference and certainly had the chance to win the Class C Title - OK I'll stop patting myself on my back.

So now I'll go out on a limb and predict how the teams will do in the state tournament. So here goes:

Tewksbury Baseball: They open up against Wakefield and if they win that they will face either Masconomet or North Andover. I don't know much at all about Wakefield except they play in a strong league. I'm going to say that the Redmen will beat Wakefield, but lose to Masco despite a tremendous pitching performance by Mike Rocco.

Masco has been and still is the team to beat. On paper they are deep and very talented.

Tewksbury Softball: I like this team a lot. They have a little bit of everything, but I don't think the team is there quite yet to duplicate last year's success. They are also in a very tough bracket. They open with Winchester and if they will tat they will face Central Catholic, the number one seed who defeated the Redgals earlier in the season. On paper, I think Central is the better team.

Wilmington Softball: This team could easily make some noise since they are on the softer bracket of the two. The 'Cats have their strengths and they have their weaknesses. But I think their strengths will get them past North Reading in the first round.

They could then face North

Andover in the second round. Despite pitcher Lauren Otto's 13-strikeout performance last time, I think this time around the 'Cats will get a first inning run because of a bunt or a steal and go on to win.

From there I think they could face another tough team in Burlington, but they could also be beatable. I look for the 'Cats to take advantage of the weaker bracket and going to the North final before losing to Concord-Carlisle. But to get there, the 'Cats have to play defense.

Shawsheen Softball: Speaking of soft brackets, as long as the Rams come to play every game, there should be no reason why they won't be playing for its second straight Division 3 North title.

They should be able to defeat Winthrop, Mt. St. Joseph's or East Boston (take your pick), and most likely Our Lady of Nazareth to get into the sectional final with a rematch against Austin Prep. And I take the Rams, 2-1 in that game.

The rest of the predictions

For some stupid reason I'm going to predict all of the sectional finalists in all three divisions in both baseball and softball. Apparently I have way too much time on my hands. So here goes:

Baseball:

Division 1 North - Final 4 teams: Peabody vs St. John's Prep; Lexington vs Reading. St. John's and Lexington come out as winners. St. John's captures the sectional title.

Division 1 South - Final 4 teams: Marshfield vs Plymouth North; Catholic Memorial vs Norwood. Marshfield and Catholic Memorial come out as winners. Catholic Memorial wins the sectional title.

Eastern Mass Final winner - St. John's Prep.

Division 2 North - Final 4 teams: Masconomet vs Lincoln-Sudbury; Woburn vs Burlington. Masco and Woburn come out as winners. Masco wins the sectional title.

Division 2 South - Final 4 teams: Dighton-Rehobeth vs Mansfield. Canton vs Milton; D-R and Canton come out as winners. Dighton-Rehobeth wins sectional title.

Eastern Mass Final winner - Masconomet.

Division 3 North - Final 4 teams: Tyngsboro vs Bishop Fenwick; Bedford vs Hamilton-Wenham. Tyngsboro faces Hamilton-Wenham. Tyngsboro wins sectional title.

Division 3 South - Final 4 teams: Avon vs Bourne; Medway vs Abington. Avon and Medway come out on top. Avon wins sectional title.

Eastern Mass Final winner - Avon.

Softball

Division 1 North - Final 4 teams: Lexington vs Bishop Fenwick; Reading vs Chelmsford; Fenwick and Reading come out on top and play one terrific game in the final. Fenwick wins.

Division 1 South - Final 4 teams: Walpole vs Milton; Taunton vs King Philip. Walpole and Taunton emerge as the winners. Taunton wins easily for the sectional crown.

Eastern Mass winner - Taunton.

Division 2 North - Final 4 teams: Central Catholic vs Concord-Carlisle; Burlington and Wilmington. Concord upsets the Central and Wilmington manages to defeat Burlington. Concord's bats too much for Wildcats in final.

Division 2 South - Final 4 teams: Wareham vs Dighton-Rehobeth; Case vs Rockland. Wareham and Case are winners. No one beats Jenna Thurston is crunch time. Case wins.

Eastern Mass winner - Case.

Division 3 North - Final 4 teams: Shawsheen against Nazareth; Austin Prep vs Whittier. The two local teams come out and face one another.

Shawsheen wins.

Division 3 South - Final 4 teams: West Bridgewater vs Millis; Mashpee vs Ursuline. Millis and Mashpee face off next. Mashpee wins.

Eastern Mass winner - Shawsheen.

I haven't seen the majority of these teams play, so I could easily end up with a big doughnut.

Just call them the

Tewksbury all-stars

If you didn't notice this week, ten local softball players from Tewksbury were named to high school softball all-star teams. At Tewksbury High, Kelly Boyle was named the MVC Player of the Year as a junior.

She along with double play partner Lauren Welch were named to the all-conference team. Teammates Julie Carlino, Christi Marsh and Jill Cooney were also named to the all-star squad.

Over at Shawsheen, Jen Elwell was named the MVP of the CAC. The sophomore pitcher along with infielders Denise Lazzara and Sarah Zimmer also made the all-star teams and the three of them reign from Tewksbury.

At Central Catholic, sophomores Kim Aceto and Holly Eringis were named to the MVC All-Star team. Aceto plays third base and pitches and Eringis plays first base.

Jackie Kinsman, a lefthander pitcher for Notre Dame Academy, also reigns from Tewksbury and she was selected to the MVC squad as well.

Finally Brianne Smith (Philips Academy) and Lisa White (Lawrence Academy) both were named to their respective league all-star squads.

"I'm absolutely thrilled for my five girls," said Tewksbury High coach Leo DiRocco. "I had to fight like hell to get them on there but they all deserve it. I think having the five girls named to the all-star team finally gives us the respect as a program that we deserve."

"Last year we had Amy Von Kahle as the small school MVP and this year Kelly Boyle is the large school MVP. I think winning helps get the respect you deserve and it makes it easier."

Austin Prep softball team gearing up for tourney

By TIM LANE

Softball

The girls of Austin had two big victories this week, shutting out Marian 15-0 and defeating Archbishop Williams 11-3. Ashley Whalen (Wakefield) pitched both games, giving up a mere three hits in the shutout and earning her 500th career strikeout. Erica Barry (Malden) and Allyson Clarke (Lawrence) led the offense for Austin against Marian. Barry, Gina Scibelli (Malden), Melissa Asci (Stoneham), Katie Powers (North Reading), and Candice Ellis (Gloucester) led the way against Archbishop Williams. The Cougars season record is 13-6, 10-4 in Catholic Central League competition.

Lacrosse

Alex Sousa (Billerica) scored seven goals in regulation play and an eighth in sudden death overtime to lead the Austin Lacrosse team to a 16-15 victory over Medford. Dean Smith (Wilmington) was in goal for Austin, making 10 saves.

Baseball

UMass-Lowell baseball team still alive in series

The UMass-Lowell baseball team split its first two games at the 35th annual Division II Baseball World Series held in Montgomery, Alabama.

After losing 5-2 to Chico State in the opener, the River Hawks eliminated Florida Southern, 7-2. David Williamson fired a complete game six hitter for the win.

Wilmington resident Sean Kerrigan and Tewksbury resident Bob Moulaison are members of the team.

UMass Lowell (34-17) survive to play a to be determined opponent Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

SHAWSHEEN TECH'S SARAH ZIMMER OF TEWKSBURY was voted an all-star this week mainly because of her strong hitting. She hopes that will continue in the tournament. (photo by Jessica Styles).

Softball team could begin tourney against familiar foe

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Last year the Wilmington High softball team entered the state tournament with an 18-2 record. After beating North Andover, the girls season ended with a disappointing loss to neighboring Tewksbury.

The year before the team which wasn't nearly as good as last year's team, went a game further losing in the sectional semi-finals to Melrose.

This year's team is right behind last year's team with a 15-3 record. The enter the Division 2 North sectional bracket as the number three seed. They will open up on Friday afternoon at WHS against the winner of North Reading/Melrose beginning at 3:15. Wilmington has already defeated North Reading twice this season, while the 'Cats have some unfinished business to attend against Melrose.

So here's the 64,000 question: will this year's tournament be a surprising one, or will it be a disappointment? Or do we go to the bonus round and ask if the team will finish in the middle somewhere?

"Anything can happen in the tournament," said coach Bob Surran, who will experience his first playoff game. "You could face a hot pitcher and then lights could be out. But I like our chances. I like our pitching, we've been hitting better lately and we've been running the bases better."

Last year Wilmington couldn't get the timely hit against Tewksbury and lost 1-0. In the first game the defeated North Andover, who they could face in the second round. Earlier this season the 'Cats lost 1-0 to NA behind the 13-strikeout performance by their pitcher Lauren Otto. Since that game, the 'Cats haven't lost as they are riding a 9-game winning streak.

"Jackie Joyce has really come on in the second half of the season and with her on the mound I really don't think we're going to give up many runs," said Surran. "We have spent a lot of time on hitting this year. We wanted to avoid all of the one-run games the team had last year. We won 15 games this season and I think that's a pretty good indication that we have swung the bats pretty well. We lost two one run games.

"Besides the 11-1 loss to Masco, we've given up just 17 runs in the other 17 games. And of those 17, only 8 of them are earned. If we play defense and continue to hit, I think we can beat anyone on any given day."

Joyce has been very good this season. She has an 0.33 ERA and has more than one strikeout per inning. Her fastball is sneaky fast, and she has learned more and more this season of becoming a pitcher and not just a thrower. If the defense helps out Joyce, Wilmington could make a run at it, since their bracket is vulnerable.

Offensively, the team has been led by Lauren Rappoli (.557 average) and Shannon Fahey (.492). Lead-off hitter Lauren Crowley has done a nice job, while Danielle Cleary has been very solid as the team's number two hitter and third baseman.

"We've been practicing all week on our short game and getting the ball in play more," said Surran. "We've been trying to shorten the swings. If the bunt isn't working, we want to modify the swing and be able to put the ball on the ground and in play. We're bringing up speed from the JV team to help for pinch running."

Perhaps that one bunt, or one stolen base could be the difference of a win or a loss.

"The kids are confident and all they have to be is worry about Wilmington and not anyone else," said Surran. "If they don't worry about the other team we'll do fine. I believe this is a very nice team. If we come with our game faces on we can beat anyone and be a surprise to many teams."

Should Wilmington win its first game, they will face the winner of North Andover/Presentation of Mary Academy with the date, time and place yet too to be announced.

THE WILMINGTON HIGH GIRLS SOFTBALL TEAM will be looking to extend their season as long as possible when the state tournament begins on Friday. (file photo)

Lady 'Cats avenge loss to Masconomet

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

The two game series between the Wilmington and Masconomet softball teams have been pretty cloudy. Monday night, the light finally peaked through for the two teams.

Earlier in the season the teams hooked up for a league game played at Masconomet Regional High. The two teams played four innings in the rain and Wilmington led 16-5. As the fifth inning started the game was called because of the rain. The entire four innings then got wiped out.

The teams made up the game a few days later and this time Masconomet trounced the Lady 'Cats, 11-1 making things more cloudy to figure out.

On Monday night, Masconomet and Wilmington came into the game both at 11-2 in the league and 14-3 overall. This second contest at the Town Park was a non-league game. The teams played two innings and the 'Cats led 2-0. That's when severe lightning came. The two teams were ordered off the field by the umpires. An hour later the teams resumed the game and the 'Cats went on to win 6-2.

Had the game not been resumed, and had the game not been finished by 10 pm, the two teams both would have been given a forfeit loss for not making up the game before the season deadline. With the tournament seeds coming out the next afternoon, the MIAA set a deadline for all regular season games to be completed by 10 pm that night. Just seconds after Jackie Joyce struck out the side in order putting the final stamp on the victory, the 10 pm deadline came as the lights at the Town Park went off because of the timer it is on.

It certainly was a bizarre series for the two teams.

With the win, Wilmington ended the regular season at 15-3, while two of their three losses were by one run and the third was the make-up doozy against Masco. The Chieftains finish the regular season at 14-4 and head to the Division 1 North state tournament, while the 'Cats begin play in Division 2.

"It was a good game," said coach Bob Surran. "We really hit the ball well."

Wilmington led 2-0 before the delay thanks to a crushing two-run double to left field by sophomore Shannon Fahey. When play resumed after the delay, Masco tied the game on a two-out error followed by two base hits and another error. Wilmington answered with a pair of runs in both the fourth and fifth innings. Fahey tripled to lead off the fourth and she was brought home on a single Stacey Comer. She later scored on a passed ball.

In the fifth, Wilmington banged out four hits including a triple by Lauren Crowley down the left field line. Later on in the inning Lauren Rappoli, Jackie Rubino and Fahey continued the rally with three straight singles.

Fahey was the hitting star going 3-for-3 needing a homerun to complete the cycle. Joyce pitched very well on the mound. Her velocity was certainly the best its been all season, while her riser was also pretty good. Both runs were unearned off her, but she did give up six hits including a pair of doubles.

Joyce came into the game seventh in the entire state in ERA at 0.40. After Monday night she is 13-3 tossing 105 innings, while striking out 112 batters. She lowered her ERA to 0.33. And she's just a sophomore.

Rappoli came into the game as the ninth best batter in the state. She was batting .552 with 32 hits in 58 at bats including 2 homeruns and 19 RBIs. On Monday, she went 2-for-3 to end the regular season batting .557. And she's just a sophomore.

Fahey came into the game as the fourth leading hitter in the Cape Ann League. She was batting .458 with 22 hits in 48 at bats including 14 RBIs. Monday night's 3-for-3 game upped her regular season average to .490 and she drove in 16 runs in 18 games. And yes,

See is among the state's best throwers

By MATT KALMAN
Sports Correspondent

An injury nearly cost Rachele See her spring outdoor track season last year as a freshman.

Instead, the pain in her knee pushed See to a new event — one in which she has emerged as one of the best competitors in the state.

At the urging of Michelle Brush, See convinced the Wilmington High coaching staff to give her a shot in the javelin last season. The results were less than impressive, as Brush barely broke the 80-foot mark all season.

This year, the Wildcats hired throwing coach Mike Kinney and he's turned See into a contender. Her personal-best throw of 114 feet, 8 inches last weekend at the state Class C meet was far enough for third place.

"It's kind of cool because I didn't think it was going to happen," said the 5-foot See. "But it happened. I had a good day."

See's performance at the Class C meet made up for the fact that she missed the Cape Ann League meet because of a family commitment. There's no doubt she would have won the league title or come close trying.

"I wasn't really mad about it until I found out I was ranked third," said See.

With her third-place finish at the Class C meet, See qualified for this Saturday's All-State meet to be held at Worcester State College. Kinney can take almost as much of the credit for the sophomore's success as the athlete.

"He's really helped me with my steps and the actual form of throwing it," said See. "Last year, I threw it like a baseball. And this year I throw it like a javelin. I'm getting used to not throwing a curveball."

Although he wasn't with the track and field team last season, Wilmington coach Tom Bradley sees why See has become a success.

"I've talked to Mike (Kinney) and he seems to feel she has good speed and good technique," said Bradley. "She's not the biggest kid in the world, but she can really launch it out there."

A soccer player during the fall and an ice hockey player during the winter, See doesn't have much time to work on the javelin after the track season ends. Her other sports also affect her choice of events, which she intends to limit to the javelin.

"I don't feel like running during track season because I do a lot of running during soccer season," said See. "My hands are too small to throw the discus and my sister does shot put, so that's out. So all that's left is the javelin."

See's older sister Heather is a junior and the pair tries to stay away from an intra-family competition.

"We just try not to play the same sports and everything because it'd be more stressful at home," said the younger See. "We try to stay friends, so we don't compete against each other."

For the rest of this season and the next two years, Bradley hopes he can count on the younger See to compete in the javelin.

"If she sticks with it (she'll improve)," said Bradley. "She threw 114 for third place and the winning throw was 125. So Mike said she should aim for 125 feet next season and 130 the following year."

"I'm counting on her next year winning every dual meet and she should win the Cape Ann title."

For now, See will keep her focus on the All-State meet.

"I want to do at least 114 and maybe get better," said See. "And I don't want to finish last."

If her steady improvement continues, See won't have to worry about looking up at her competition.

Oh Henry, the milestones keep coming

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

There is no better or easier way to say it - Ed "Buddy" Henry is the greatest high school softball coach in this state. And perhaps in the entire country.

That's a fact. And the Shawsheen softball program has been put on the softball map when he arrived five years ago.

A week ago Shawsheen defeated Greater Lowell, 1-0, in a CAC game. It wasn't an ordinary game. The win was the 400th for Henry in his brilliant coaching career. He hasn't coached for 30, 40 or 50 years to achieve this milestone. He's in his 19th year as head coach. As former Patriot receiver Terry Glenn once said, "do the math". OK we will - 19 divided by 40 equals 21 wins a season. That's an average!

Henry spent 15 years as the head coach at Bishop Fenwick in Peabody (his record there is around 340-22 give or take a few). There his teams never won less than 19 games in a season. Usually they finished 19-1 or 20-0 in the regular season and they carried that over into the state tournament and win another five or six games. During his 15 years there, the team won 8 state titles including 7 Division 1 titles in a row. Yes in a row.

His coaching tenure at Fenwick came to an end after 1997 season when he resigned. No he wasn't forced out which some rumors have said. No he wasn't recruiting which some people are led to believe. None of those ridiculous rumors are true. He left Fenwick because he got a better teaching position - history teacher and department head - at Shawsheen Tech. That's a fact.

What's also a fact is what he has done for this Shawsheen program. In 1998 he came on as an assistant coach under Ed Gillis. After that season, Gillis resigned and took the Athletic Director's position at Burlington High. Henry was hired as the softball coach. Before ever coaching one game on the bench, he made an immediate change. He took his battery and changed them. Melissa Hall, who was the pitcher, was moved to catcher. Florence Arsenault, who was the catcher, was moved to the mound. Everyone called Henry crazy. Why was he doing that?

When Arsenault graduated, she was an All-Scholastic pitcher. She was throwing around 62 miles per hour. Her fastball was clocked faster than anyone in the state in recent history. She had only flirted with pitching prior to Henry making the switch.

That year the team registered 12 wins partly because Henry had to suspend about 6 players for an off the field problem. The following year, Shawsheen had its best season in program history losing in the semi-finals of the Division 3 North tournament.

After losing Arsenault and her 200 plus strikeouts as a senior, Shawsheen wasn't going back into the cellar. On came another Tewksbury resident Jen Elwell. Now as she is completing her sophomore season, she is right behind Arsenault's strikeout record with 222, while Elwell was named the league's MVP leading the team to a 20 win season.

Last year as a freshman, Elwell helped lead the team to its first Division 3 North Sectional crown, and its first trip to the Eastern Mass final losing to the eventual state champion, Cardinal Spellman.

Henry oversaw it all. He shaped it all up.

Henry is very humbled about the entire milestone. He wouldn't talk much about it except to say, "We've been very fortunate to have such great players and great teams. To me what makes a great coach is having great players."

Besides all of the accolades, Henry also did two major things when it comes to coaching high school softball: he began the "short game" of the bunting and slapping. Slap hitting is one of the hardest things to do in softball. He takes speedy players, turns them over to lefties, and has them run at the pitcher while trying to slap the ball on the ground and beat out infield hits. If you watched current center fielder Jess Eaton as a freshman and you watch her know you know just how much of an influence Henry had on her slap game.

The second thing he does masterfully is having fun. He is a very humorous guy, who can tell jokes, can keep the girls very loose under pressure and he's always having a good time with them.

On top of that, he's a disciplinarian when he has to be, he's a tremendous teacher of the game when it comes to mechanics and fundamentals. He also has an incredible love for the kids, nevermind the game. If that's not true, then perhaps seven of his former players wouldn't have gone on to coaching high school softball, while he is grooming another player now.

The 400 wins is the most in the state of Massachusetts. The 8 state titles is the most in Mass. Having two teams capture sectional titles is also a first in the state. It's not known as of fact if there's other coaches in the country who have 400 wins, and who have done it on a faster pace than Henry has.

His record in 19 years is right about 405-40. You could easily name 405 reasons why he's the best softball coach anyone has witnessed. And yes, that's a fact.

Elwell tosses her way to league MVP award

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Sometimes being a sophomore in high school you just don't understand things for whatever reason. In terms of high school softball, Jen Elwell can't understand what in the world the Commonwealth Athletic Conference was thinking when it voted her as the league's Most Valuable Player.

"I don't know how the hell I got it," she said. "I was really surprised. I'm not a good hitter and all I do is pitch. Big deal. If there's an MVP it should go to my defense, they're the ones who save me and get the wins."

OK so she does understand things. She understands what it takes to be a team player. But she certainly underestimates her abilities. On the mound she finished the season with an 18-2 record. In 126 innings she has given up just 12 earned runs for an 0.61 ERA. She has struck out 235 batters as she is coming very close to breaking the school's all-time strikeout record in a season. Monday she gave up her first earned run in 12 games, which included 10 shut outs in that streak.

And at the plate, she is batting .354. She certainly can hit.

"She's a workhorse for us," said coach Buddy Henry. "The last month or so she has really come on as a pitcher. It's just like last year - towards the end of the season and into the tournament she was unhittable tossing all kinds of shut outs in a row. Her velocity has really improved and she's really hitting her spots."

Henry gave a lot of Elwell's credit to volunteer coaches Laura Fleming and Jake Townsend.

Elwell gave credit to both her pitching coaches and of course her teammates.

"Especially with my change-up since it's not that good, I need the defense to be there and back it up," she said. "And they are always on target and ready for everything. The defense is the reason why we're winning."

This past week the team captured the league championship title with its 7-1 win over Whittier Tech on Saturday. In that game she gave up an unearned run on three hits while she walked one and struck out 14 batters.

Three days later against the same team she tossed 9 innings in the 2-1 win. This time she gave up an earned run on five hits, three walks and struck out 13. After the game she said she didn't think she had her "good stuff".

"I didn't have my speed [on Monday] but I had my defense and that's all that mattered," she said. "We got the bats going when it counted."

Last year Elwell tossed five straight shutouts in the post-season before Cardinal Spellman scored five unearned runs off her in the state semi-final game. She realizes that she might not have those streaks all of the time, but she also realizes that the team has something special here.

"When we started to play the more competitive teams we got more serious," she said. "We're into it more, we're practicing more and harder than we ever have. We have great team chemistry and all we want to do is win."

And with her on the mound, the chances are very good to do that. Someday she'll understand that.

SHAWSHEEN TECH SOPHOMORE PITCHER JEN ELWELL, of Tewksbury, was named the CAC Most Valuable Player this past week. On Monday she helped the Rams defeat Whittier Tech, 2-1, in 9 innings. (Photo by Jessica Stygles).

Rams look to reload for playoff run

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

BILLERICA - Last year the Shawsheen Tech softball team made school history when it went to the Division 3 Eastern Mass final. The Rams captured the North Sectional title, before its terrific season came to an end when Cardinal Spellman defeated them in the state semi-final game.

This week the state tournament begins and Shawsheen comes in this year's bracket more experience, a better record and a better seed.

"We're playing some pretty good ball," said coach Buddy Henry, whose team improved to 20-2 on Monday morning after its 2-1 extra inning win over Whittier Tech in the first round of the State Voc Tech tournament played at Shawsheen. "As long as Jen [Elwell] continues to pitch like she has been we'll do OK. We're still searching for a few runs and hopefully we'll get some in the tournament."

Shawsheen enters the Division 3 North bracket with the number one seed and a first round bye. They will play the winner of Winthrop/North Shore with the date, time and location yet to be announced. Should they win that game they will play the winner of Mt. St. Joseph's/East Boston most likely Monday or Tuesday.

"Things have been working out really well," said Henry. "The assistant coaches have done a great job and everyone on the team has a job to do. We have three set line-ups in the tournament depending on the team. But no matter which line-up we use, we need to have our big hitters to step up. Eventually we need someone to drive the ball and drive in runs."

This past week Shawsheen faced Whittier Tech twice. On Friday they handed them a 7-1 defeat to capture the CAC league title. Shawsheen took advantage of a handful of defensive miscues by Whittier, while Kelly Gillis was 2-for-2 with a two-run single and a RBI double to lead the way offensively.

"The league title means a lot," he said. "Greater Lowell has been dominating the league the last few years and now we accomplished one of our goals. Our future looks bright but we'll deal with the future when it comes."

On Monday morning, the two teams faced one another again in the first round of the Voc tourney. This time Whittier's defense tightened up. Both Jen Elwell and Ashley Williams hooked up in a terrific pitcher's duel. Elwell gave up one run in the top of the sixth but tossed doughnuts the other eight innings. In the bottom of the ninth, Shawsheen unleashed the 1-1 tie and celebrated with the win. With the bases loaded and one out, Gillis belted a sharp hit off the Williams' glove which brought home Denise Lazzara with the winning run.

Elwell tossed 9 innings giving up five hits, three walks and struck out 13.

This past week the CAC announced its league all-stars. Elwell was voted the league's MVP and she's just a sophomore. Gillis, Sarah Zimmer and Denise Lazzara - all locals - were named to the all-star team, as was outfielder Jess Eaton.

Rams baseball team heading to playoffs

By MATT KALMAN
Sports Correspondent

The missed opportunities in Shawshen Tech's loss to Greater Lawrence on Tuesday were the type of failures that could ruin a team's summer vacation.

However, the Rams instead get to bounce back from their 3-1 loss in the title game of the State Vocational School Large Schools Tournament with a Division 3 state tournament showdown with North Reading on Saturday.

During their loss to the Reggies,

the Rams showed signs of a team that could advance far in the state tournament.

The starting pitching was solid as right-hander John McGonagle went six innings and allowed just three runs, two earned, on five hits with two walks and one strikeout.

"John did a tremendous job," said Shawshen coach Kevin Bloom, whose team lost its regular season meeting with Greater Lawrence, 14-4. "He hit his spots, he led with his senior leadership.
He's tough; he battles when things get tough. And he's done a tremendous job for us."

The defense was almost flawless, as the Rams committed just one harmless error on a pickoff throw by McGonagle in the fifth inning. Among a handful of stellar plays Shawshen made in the field, shortstop Chris Frost's diving play in the fifth inning stood out.

With a runner on second base and two outs, Frost dove to his right and threw across the diamond to retire Edwin Torres and keep the Rams within two runs.
Catcher Jeff Paquette also flashed some defensive brilliance with two runners caught stealing.

"Take away that bad inning
(the second) and it's a different ball game," said Bloom.

And the offense hit the ball hard, even though the final score made the Rams seem impotent. In addition to Wilmington resident Brian Corcoran's sacrifice fly that plated the Rams' only run in the game, the Rams knocked the ball around the yard, only to have their smashes corralled by well-placed and highly capable Greater Lawrence defenders.

"We hit the ball right at people, but that's sometimes how it goes in baseball," said Bloom. "I'm proud of the effort of the guys. To be a key hit here or a key hit there from a state vocational title, you have to be proud of the guys."

Leadoff man Kevin McCauley hit the ball on the nose twice in the game. The first time he ripped the ball he reached with a single in the top of the first and then stole second. After McCauley took third on a passed ball, Corcoran delivered his long fly to put the Rams ahead,

1-0.

After he faced the minimum in the first inning, McGonagle had some problems in the second. He allowed a leadoff single to winning pitcher Ramon Diaz and the walked Steve Shawcross.

Radhyson Gutierrez bunted to sacrifice the runners to second and third and before McGonagle could throw a pitch to Dino Ortiz from the windup, the hurler was called for a balk. The tying run scored on that miscue and the tie-breaking run came home on a ground ball by Ortiz to second baseman Jerry Holland.

Holland's throw home was late,
as Shawcross scored and Ortiz reached first. After McGonagle balked for the second time in the inning, Ortiz took second and scored on a two-out RBI single by Victor Eusebio.

In the top of the third, Holland, who was 2-for-2 after he entered the game for the injured Chris Roberts, singled stole second and took third on a wild pitch.
McCauley followed with a hardhit ball on a 1-1 pitch. However, the ball went right to Gutierrez at third base and he beat Holland back to the bag for the double play.

Corcoran and Jason Cantwell both hit liners into the gaps in the outfield that were tracked down in the late innings and in the seventh, Shawshen wasted a one-out triple by Frost as the Rams' last two hitters failed to drive him home and keep the rally going.

North Reading visits No. 7-seeded Shawshen on Saturday at 4 p.m. to start the Division 3 tournament.

Wilmington Under 9C girls team play well at tourney

The Wilmington Girls U9C team faced a tough Somerville team on a deserted Shawshen Field on Saturday afternoon. The sounds of balls banging off of goal posts, ricocheting off of crossbars and whistling past the Somerville twine soon filled the air.

Left forward Amanda Brazell was all over the Somerville defenders, battling for the ball, winning it and crossing it in front of the net. Amanda's hard work led to Wilmington's first score. After Amanda's shot on goal, center Heather Kealos drove to the net and finished off the shot. Meanwhile defenders Kelly Flaherty and Elizabeth Jaeschke did a superb job of keeping the pressure on Somerville by pounding any attempted clear by Somerville back into their zone. Stonewall keeper Christi Bush scooped up any and all shots that came her way.

Wilmington's second goal came once again from a nice centering pass from Amanda to Alyssa Fiorentino alone in front. Alyssa alone in front is never a good thing for any keeper. Today was no different as Alyssa drove a shot deep into the twine. Stephany Mason did a super job of blasting huge kicks at the net from all angles hitting everything but the twine. Somerville scored just before the half putting the score 2-1 in Wilmington's favor.

In the second half some of our players got a chance to move from their usual defense or goal position to play offense. This put a lot of well rested legs into Somerville's zone which meant tremendous sustained pressure and scoring opportunities for our girls. Somerville tied the game up early in the second half so the girls were determined to score again.

Right forward Haley Robarge was relentless in her pressure of the ball and her desire to shoot on goal. She was battling two sometimes three defenders and still able to get a shot on goal. Somerville's keeper was kept very busy. Samantha Reed and Christi Bush got several nice shots on goal as well but the keeper always seemed to be there.

With Wilmington pressing Somerville had a couple of breaks but defenders Fiona Gately and Jessica Maienza did an outstanding job of battling and most often winning the ball. Kelly Duffy came up huge as second half keeper using her aggressive goalkeeping style. Stephany made a big rush from her goalkeeper position and blasted the ball just over the crossbar.

With time running out Elizabeth Jaeschke made a beautiful goalkick up to Stephany at mid field. She broke through the defense and scored on a tremendous shot. Excellent effort girls! A very exciting game! Keep up the hard work.

The Mets certainly had their offense in high gear when they defeated the Blue Jays at Glen Rd. Stevie Ciampa and Dave Sugrue set the table all night at the top of the order as they had four hits apiece and scored 9 runs between them. Mike Ciampa swung the most powerful bat of the night as he clubbed a double, triple and Home Run to lead the charges. Andy Owens in the cleanup spot contributed four hits including a triple, and also scored four runs. Maggie Brown had four hits and scored five runs while Trevor Foley, Gordie Fitch, and Adam Siegel all had four hits and scored four runs each.

Swinging hot bats for the Blue Jays were Luke Spry, Steve Petinge, Phil Lentini, Dillon Sullivan, Zach Reed, and Brendan O'Brien. Reed and O'Brien were both all over the field, hitting the ball hard every time up and creating havoc on the bases all night long. O'Brien also made several nifty plays from his shortstop position.

White Sox edge Twins

Another short schedule was played throughout this past week in Wilmington Little League, with no games played on Saturday due to the long Memorial Day weekend. The remaining schedule resumes in earnest this week as we roll into the month of June with many exciting games yet to come.

We hope everyone had a happy and safe holiday and look forward to seeing you at the parks, and remember you can keep up with news, standings, and information on our web site: <http://www.concetic.net/~fdcmic/wllhomepage.index.html>

White Sox 5, Twins 4

In an extremely exciting and well played game, the White Sox outlasted the Twins in extra innings. The lead seemed to change with each team's at bat, as the Twins tied the score in the bottom of the sixth and the Sox scored in the top of the seventh. They had to hold off the never say die Twins, as the tying run was on second in the bottom of the seventh.

The White Sox got three strong innings from Hubba McIsaac, who allowed only two hits, two runs and one walk. Bubba McIsaac then took over on the mound for the final four innings and held the Twins to two runs, one walk and seven strikeouts.

Mike DeLuca blasted his first homerun of the season for the Sox who also got offensive support from Eric Siegel (two hits), Zack Fahey (two hits), Hubba McIsaac (two hits), Brian Cote, Nick Boutouros, Chris Murphy and Joe Gore. Murphy also made a game ending diving catch in left field to save the game. Brian Svenson went the first six innings for the Twins, and pitched a very strong game.

Justin Loguide pitched the final inning. Justin led the Twins offense with three hits and scored two runs. Charlie Waitt had two hits and three rbi's, and played an excellent game at shortstop. Contributing to the Twins attack were Svenson, D.J. Bemis, Greg Good and Brendon Doherty.

Rangers 4, Diamondbacks 2

In one of the quickest and slickest Little League games ever, the AA Rangers beat the Diamondbacks by a score of 4-2. Ranger pitching led by starter Nick Godzyk (who set down the side in order in both innings in which he pitched) allowed only three hits and struck out 14. Diamondback starter Dave Mello was almost stingy, allowing only two baserunners and setting down the side in order in the third.

Mello also brought home the Diamondbacks first run with a solo home run. The game progressed rapidly with the Rangers leading going into the sixth inning, when a leadoff double by Jacob Bailey was followed by back to back singles by David Melkonian and Eric Dellano to bring home two insurance runs. Those runs would prove to be needed when Diamondback leadoff hitter Paul Duffy smacked a solo home run to bring the final tally to 4-2. Excellent fielding plays were also turned in for the Rangers by Jonathan See and Brian Good.

Farm League

Dodgers vs Royals

The Dodgers and Royals got together at Glen Road Field for a stage of true defensive battle. The Dodgers took the early lead when Frank Cerbone, who was safe on a fielder's choice, scored after a hit from Bill Hird and an rbi single from Justin Rhodes.

In the bottom half of the first, the Royal bats erupted for four runs thanks to timely hitting from Jacob Russo, Dan Pothier, Dan Vigneau, Andrew Spurr, Cameron Garrant and John Keegan. The Dodgers came back with six of their own in the second with the offensive power of Tony Silva, Andrew Fino, Jesse Previte, Eric Surette, Colin McGuire, Cerbone and Matt Carderelli.

To preserve the lead, the Dodgers forced the Royals to leave three runners on base with excellent fielding from Shawn Adams, Jim Johnson, Tommy See, Rhodes and Silva. The Royals also displayed some fine leatherwork as they allowed the Dodgers to score only one run in the next three innings. Brian Feindel was huge from the pitcher's mound as he scooped two hard shots and threw to first for the easy putouts.

Spurr, Russo, Keegan and Jimmy Bonish also contributed great stops and putouts. The Royals opened the game up in the fourth as Eric Hachey, Justin Blier, Michael Biondon, Jonathan Biondo, Bonish, and Spurr ripped the cover off the ball and helped put together a tremendous rally to assure the Royal victory. The rematch of these two teams later in the season looks to be a game that should not be missed.

Rangers vs Mariners

On a rare sunny evening the Mariners squared off with the Rangers. The Mariners defense was led by Andrew LaRosa, Frank Degregorio, and Nick Colella with fine defensive plays. Offensively, Ben Taylor, Bill Hurley and Robert Sutura had the hot bats.

The Rangers defensively had Chris DiCecca, John Thompson and Joe King holding the Mariners in check while the hot bats of Adam DiTocco, Joe Guarnaccia, Zach McNally, Nick Hussey and Derek Duggan all knocking out hits for the Rangers.

AA Brewers 5, Rangers 2

On Tuesday night the Rangers and Brewers made up a rain postponed game originally scheduled for last Saturday. Ranger pitcher Jonathan See who helped himself to start the game with some slick fielding and a strikeout, gave up a double (his first of two) to Evan Butters who then came around to score on an infield error. See settled down to get the last batter of the inning and continued his sharp pitching by striking out the side in the second.

The Rangers went down in order in the first, but then put a man on in every inning without being able to capitalize as Brewer pitching was equal to the task. Both teams settled into a well pitched, fast paced game until the fifth when the Brewers took advantage of some wild Ranger pitching, scoring two runs in both the fifth and sixth innings. With the bases loaded in the sixth, Josh Townsend came in on relief for the Rangers to strike out the side. The rangers were able to make some noise of their own in the fifth when Adam Brown was hit by a pitch to lead off.

Brown was erased by a fielder's choice by Joe Tucker, and after some wildness on the Brewers part, Nick Godzyk, who went two for two, brought Tucker around with a single. Godzyk then scored on a single by Chris Cazeau. Brewer pitching then found the groove again, shutting down the Rangers the rest of the way.

Softball

Rockies 15-Phillies 10

In Wilmington Girls Major League Softball action, Leduc's

Phillies spotted the expansion Rockies a two run lead in the top of the first inning before they took control of the game with a five run outburst in the bottom of the first. The Rockies first inning started after two were out when Kayla Whooley singled and came home to score on a long double by Erin Conway. Courtney Ryan then brought her home with a single and a quick 2-0 lead.

The Phillies bounced back with a five run explosion. After three straight walks, Samantha Souza belted a long triple to clear the bases, and then singles by Allison Barne (one of her hits on the night), Nicki Scott and Anna Marie Souza added up to two more runs and a 5-2 lead after one inning. The Phillies never looked back and wound up on the right end of the 15-10 final.

Kim Ciampa was the starting and winning pitcher, striking out five and making several nice defensive plays in her four innings on the mound. She also helped her own cause with the bat by smacking two hard hits and scoring twice. Ali Lyman pitched a good inning in relief to close out the game. Shannon Jones was the table setter in the leadoff spot with two walks and a single on the night, while Jackie Zarembo and Aubrey Uinovarsky also hit the ball hard for the Phillies.

The Rockies were led by Eric Conway who was on fire all night long with two doubles and a triple. She also was the starting pitcher and made a tremendous grab of a hard hit line drive hit right back at her. She pitched well but was hurt a little bit by her control and a couple of costly errors behind her.

Others who stood out for the Rockies were Courtney Ryan with three hits and Kayla Whooley with two. On defense, Katelyn Souza had a fine game at second base, while Nicole Luz and Chelsea Babcock made a couple of nifty plays in the field as well.

Brewers 21, Pirates 16

At last, the game everyone has been waiting for. The two undefeated teams finally went head to head at the Glen Road field last Wednesday night. The Brewers came out swinging in the first inning scoring seven runs against the Pirates. Excellent hits by Lauren Westerberg, Dana Nolan, Britney Danahey and Colleen Magee made for an exciting inning for the Brewers. The Pirates fought back hard but were unable to score any runs.

The next few innings both teams played excellent defense, allowing only one run each. Outstanding pitching by both teams kept it a close game. Great plays were made by Jessica Stuke, Hilary Mahoney, Brianna Mara and Michelle Phillips of the Pirates and by Colleen Carroll, Shelby Rygiel and Kaitlyn Riley of the Brewers. At the top of the fourth inning the Brewers came back hard. More great hits and keen base running from Kristen Brophy, Kim Stockton and a triple by Jen Carroll brought the Brewers to a comfortable lead.

The Pirates also battled back in the fifth inning scoring seven runs led by Nina Burke, Casey Otovic, Shannon Metcalf and Chelsea Westerberg. In the last inning both teams once again came out strong scoring lots of runs. The Brewers scoring six runs and the Pirates seven, but it wasn't enough for the Pirates to catch the Brewers. The Brewers were able to hold onto their lead and take the

Team work instrumented in under 10B Girls play

Wilmington Girls U10B Team continues to demonstrate great team play as they posted three more wins. At Concord's Spaulding Field despite missing two key players Wilmington came out flying. Within the first ten minutes Brittney McLaughlin, Kate Souza and Jessica Burke quickly found the weak side in Concord's defense, by putting Wilmington up by three goals. Concord came right back testing keeper Rachel Saloman and the Wilmington defenders. Before the half was over mid-fielders Jillian Lacey and Brittany Smith each drilled scorers from outside the eighteen that Concord's keeper never had a chance at saving.

The second half opened with more exciting end-to-end play. Concord tried to gamble by putting up a fourth attacker but Wilmington quickly and skillfully cleared the ball. Kellyn Campbell picked up two assists finding Kate Souza and Brittney McLaughlin wide open. Amanda Lee Hollenbeck crossed the ball unselfishly to Rachel Saloman for yet another goal. Nicole Luz and Brittney McLaughlin picked up two loose balls to finish off the scoring for Wilmington. Alicia Days preserved the shutout coming up with three big saves and also punting the ball up field quickly to Wilmington's attackers.

The next match Wilmington faced off against Arlington Utd. at Shawsheen Field. Both teams were tentative with most of the play at mid-field. Despite having several skilled forwards the defensive efforts of Jessica Stuke, Jillian Lacey, and Brittany Smith kept Arlington from scoring. Brittney McLaughlin broke the ice picking up a pass from Kellyn Campbell and tucking it behind the Arlington keeper. With five minutes left Amanda Lee Hollenbeck surprised the Arlington goalkeeper and defense by sending a nice shot into the opponent's net.

Arlington came out strong in the second half but Rachel Saloman playing the angles made some key saves. The play of the game started with Jessica Stuke stealing the ball and crossing it to Brittany Smith. She quickly sent the ball up field to Nicole Luz. Nicole crossed the ball to Jessica Burke who drew Arlington's keeper and defender out just long enough to give the ball to Alicia Days who scored. Wilmington was not done yet as Jessica Burke several minutes later also scored for the girls giving them a 4-0 victory.

On May 4, Wilmington faced off at Edward's Field in Lowell. This proved to be the most physical and rough and tumble game Wilmington has played this season. It didn't slow Wilmington down as Brittany Smith sent a perfect pass to Nicole Luz for the first goal of the game. Then minutes later Kate Souza despite being held by her opponent crossed the ball to Brittney McLaughlin for the second goal of the game. This did not slow PAC down as they tested goalkeeper Alicia Days but were unable to score. Rachel Saloman and Jessica Burke combined on a give and go that hit the post which Nicole Luz put in for the third goal. The intensity of the game continued to build but Amanda Lee Hollenbeck sent a clearing ball forty yards up field to Rachel Saloman who drilled it into the far corner of the net.

The second half opened with PAC pressing Wilmington trying to get on the scoreboard. Jessica Stuke and Brittany Smith stepped up their efforts keeping PAC from any scoring opportunities. Then Jillian Lacey on a throw-in found Brittney McLaughlin on the opposite side of the field who popped it past the PAC keeper. Minutes later it was Jessica Burke receiving a pass from Kellyn Campbell and skillfully placing the ball into the net. With five minutes to go in the game Wilmington was awarded an indirect kick. Jillian Lacey hit the crossbar but Brittany McLaughlin always the opportunist quickly put the rebound into the net for a hat trick finishing a 7-1 victory for Wilmington.

Schofield takes home share of medals

Thirteen year-old Brittany Schofield, of Wilmington, finished her level 8 gymnastics season with a flourish, taking multiple medals at the Eastern Regional Championships.

Saturday, April 27, Schofield competed individually and as a member of the Aim High Level 8 team at the NAWGJ Judges' "Patriot" Cup Invitational hosted by All-Star Gymnastics. Brittany placed second on the uneven bars and took gold in the vault, floor, and balance beam. She finished first place all around with a 37.225, leading her team to a second place finish in the team competition.

On April 20, Brittany competed in the Massachusetts Level 8 Championships held at the Mt. Wachusett Community College. With a strong finish in all four events, she qualified to go on to the Eastern Regional Championships.

The Junior Olympic Eastern Regional All-Star Championships were held on Saturday, May 18, in Milford, CT. Brittany competed against top gymnasts from all of New England and New York. With medal winning performances in all four events, Schofield finished as Junior Olympic Eastern Regional All Star Level 8 Vault Champion and won the silver medal in the all-around for the Eastern Region.

Brittany has trained with coach Eric Saunders and coach/owner Debbie Bartlett at Aim High Gymnastics in Lowell, MA. She now begins her training for the level 9 season.

Phillies take on Padres in youth softball

In Major Softball action the other night the Phillies seemed to do no wrong in their win over the Padres. Kim Ciampa got the win on the mound, while Ali Lyman and Nikki Scott both pitched scoreless innings in relief. At the plate Ciampa chipped in with a single, triple, two walks and four runs scored. Jill Fudge did just what a leadoff hitter is supposed to do, by getting on base all four times (2 singles and 2 walks) and scoring four runs. Jackie Zarembo had three hits including a booming triple, and also scored four runs, while Allison Barne had four hits and four runs, and Jackie Lyman chipped in with two hits and two runs scored.

The big bomb of the night however, came off the bat of Amy Sinclair when she blasted a long two run homer to left field in the bottom of the third. Michelle White was the big basher for the Padres as she had the big blow of the night for her team by booming a long two run homer that the Phillies outfielders are still chasing. Krysten Brophy also swung a mean bat as she had 2 solid singles as did Lauren Lamson. Julie Gustafson and Ashley Valente had the only other base hits in what turned out to be a long night for the Padres.

First Congregational Church in Woburn

Facelift for 141 year old church

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

The scaffolding on the outside of the First Congregational Church in Woburn is like the tip of an iceberg. It only shows a small portion of the amount of renovation and restoration being done to the historic, 141 year old building.

The scaffolding is like a beacon to the people of Woburn," Reverend Deryk Richenburg, pastor of the church said. "It show the people we are living up to our responsibility."

At this time the Board of Trustees is authorizing about $34,000 to be spent painting just the south side of the church, located on Main Street. The north side was painted about five years ago and the paint fund was established to have the various sides of the church painted in a rotating fashion.

Board of Trustees Chairperson Barbara McElhiney said, "We do a side every few years."

She noted that the work also includes repairing some of the rotted wood that is found but because of the regular maintenance that does not become an expensive part of the work. During the renovation, windows have been recalked and the gutters have been repaired.

The south side of the building takes the worst of the winter weather and the brunt of the summer heat," McElhiney said.

She also noted that American Steeple Company of Salem, which is doing the exterior work, is under contract by the church to do annual checks of the slate roof and the steeple.

"It would be a travesty to put siding on," McElhiney said. There's a responsibility that goes with a building like this, to keep it and care for it for the people of Woburn to enjoy."

The First Congregational Parish has, like most Congregational parishes in New England, been around long before the history of the start of the town. It was first formed in 1642 and the present building is the sixth meeting-house to be constructed.

The church is believed to have the tallest spire in Woburn at 196 feet. It is also believed to be the largest wooden structure in New England without center supports.

However, what is going on with the exterior of the building is overwhelmed by the interior work being carried on under the direction of two church members Irina Pisarenko and Maria Bablyak. The mother/daughter team, both artists and interior designers are attempting to bring the inside of the building back to the grand elegance it once enjoyed during its Victorian construction.

Bablyak said, "This is a beautiful Victorian building. It had to be ornate on the inside as well as the outside."

However, over the years the ornate decorations have been covered up with plain colored paint. During recent renovation work the two designers and McElhiney discovered samples of the old paint colors that were used in the church decorations.

As a result starting with the front doors, murals are being painted on the walls and the doors depicting scenes relevant to the church and the scriptures. The color tones being used are earth tone colors that would have been used in the late 1800s.

Pisarenko and Bablyak are using a technique much like the masters of the 19th century by covering the walls in a plain canvas and drawing the design outline before filling in the colors.

Bablyak said this technique was used to keep the wood from cracking.

The restoration work is going on in the front lobby of the church on the ground floor and winding up the stairway to the sanctuary on the second floor.

However, the basement is not being neglected either. The mother and daughter team have completed work on a nursery in the basement that is

About the Towns

Building, raking, playing it safe

by Phyllis Nissen

Searching in Wakefield

"Although the YMCA in Wakefield has served its purpose as a gym, sport center and swimming pool, where thousands of kids learned to swim, for almost a century (since 1904), it is time to start looking for a new facility," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"We want to continually serve our people better but the YMCA facility is old and antiquated. Quality service is getting harder to provide especially where the facility doesn't have any parking and our community keeps growing," Peter Smargon, Executive Director to the YMCA in Wakefield stated.

"Recently, the YMCA performed an architectural and engineering study to see how much it would cost for a new swimming pool, more handicapped accessibilities, the upgrading of old equipment and expansion.

"The outcome was an astonishing $2.3 and $2.8 million. Due to certain building codes that would call for remodeling and renovating elevators within the building, some walls would have to be knocked down and others reconstructed.

"Even if the YMCA did decide to spend the extra money and upgrade, due to the construction involved that the building would need it would still provide less program space than it already has. Less program space is the ultimate determining factor in looking for a new location to renovate or build and that also has adequate parking...."

Required, in Winchester

"The Conservation Commission approved a series of requirements that the contractor hired for the hydroraking project of Winter Pond must follow not to disturb the pond's habitat and wildlife," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"In a public hearing with the Friends of Winter Pond and a lake management consultant, the commission decided to issue an order of conditions before the hydroraking project proposed by the Friends of Winter Pond moves forward.

"The hydroraking project, advocated by the Friends of Winter Pond, expects to thin vegetation, especially water lilies, in areas of the pond where the density minimizes recreational use and obscures the water's clarity.

"Boats can't go through," said Cecile Sturgnell, president of Friends of Winter Pond. Besides, in the water particles of the vegetation also decant and settle on the bottom of the pond, making it shallower each year, she said. Concerned with the impact on the wildlife and habitat, the Conservation Commission turned to Kenneth Wagner, water resource manager for ENSR International and a lake management consultant for 17 years to clarify the pros and cons of this method.

"Wagner said that there are approximately eight different methods to thin vegetation. However, only two would work for Winter Pond. To him, the best method for Winter Pond is dredging because it would vastly improve conditions in the pond from a human use perspective. However, it is considerably more disturbing for the habitat than hydroraking and extremely expensive, Wagner said.

"Hydroraking, followed by herbicide use as warranted, is moderately disruptive, but offers relief on the order of several years," Wagner said.

Concerned, in Burlington

"Some Recreation Committee members requested a meeting with the 'Daily Times Chronicle' and their message was quite clear: The town's athletic fields cry out for care as they face a twofold problem," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"First, there is the ongoing drought that has plagued much of the nation (a water ban would have a devastating effect on field maintenance, the commissioners say); second, there is the growing number of adults and children who use the fields (the extensive use wears out the grounds).

"In addition to the public parks, the fields on school grounds also accommodate the youth and adult leagues.

This includes the Burlington Baseball and Softball Association (BBSA), which sponsors 1,100 youngsters.

"Recreation Programs Director Donald Roberts reported that there are roughly 900 soccer players in town, 350 in Pop Warner football, and 650 adult softball players on 45 teams.

"That means, according to Roberts' numbers, that 3,000 people use the fields annually, and the Recreation Department is responsible for all of the fields, it was noted.

"With a lack of water, the grass tears up easily," said Recreation Maintenance Director Doug Gillingham, who produced documents which indicated predictions the drought would continue this summer."

141 year old church

providing a well-lit and colorful place for toddlers and infants to play.

The rear wall of the room is adorned with a mural that depicts the animals from Noah's Ark after they have survived the 40 days and 40 nights of rain and landed on Mount Ararat. Light wood and paneling has been used around the room to enhance the natural light that comes in through the large windows along the south wall.

Even the ceiling is different. Any child on the floor looking up will see a picture of a sunny, blue sky with fluffy white clouds. The chairs for the children have also received a special touch and are each decorated with a hand painted design of flowers.

Pisarenko and Bablyak are now in the process of working on a new library in the church basement. Although it is being designed with a dark mahogany wood color, the room will have plenty of light.

McElhiney said, "The work on the library is a major focus right now. It will be used as a library, meeting room and brides room."

The work is about 80 percent complete on the room with doors and cabinets remaining to be finished.

The new library is actually a space that had two rooms separated by a divider. When the divider was taken down more light from the south side of the building was allowed to enter the room.

Bablyak said, "We are trying to enlarge the room. We will use mirrors so there are no dark corners."

McElhiney noted the interior windows, which have been rebuilt under designs created by Pisarenko and Bablyak to be arched in a fashion that will match the exterior windows. The design also called for a fireplace to be built on the East End of the room and it will be surrounded by cabinets and book shelves. The West End of the room will have more shelves and cabinets.

The interior wall will be decorated with a mural of the church. It will be designed in a fashion that will give the feeling of more space in the room.

Once the work is done on the library, the two designer/artists will focus on the 1642 room and renovate it for more efficient use as a Sunday school classroom.

According to Bablyak, it is almost time to think about refurbishing the historic E. & G. G. Hook Organ that provides beautiful music for the congregation and is also used for concerts throughout the year. Pisarenko noted that the pipe organ was original with the building and is one of only seven left in the country.

It contains 43 stops and 1,760 pipes and McElhiney said that the floor vibrates when Organist William Goodwin plays the bass register notes.

McElhiney describes the building as constructed with shiplap wood siding and said it is "so well built it is incredible".

Ironically, according to Rev. Richenburg when the building was constructed the people of Woburn did not believe it would last more than 20 years.

"It was such a large structure," Richenburg said, "people thought it would collapse".

It has outlived its 20-year expectations and with the care given to it by its present congregation the building will be in service for a good many years to come.

Woodchips

"O'Kay, reason one, you are 49 YEARS OLD and no. 2, you are THE PRINCIPAL."

I remember when Paul Archbold wearing a hard hat rang my doorbell and said to me "CHIPPER, will you please tell KATHY NOT to practice her singing tonight. My crew is installing a NEW WATER LINE on the street, and my men have STOPPED working three times thinking they heard the COFFEE BREAK WHISTLE."

I told DENNIS TULLY, I'm sorry to hear that your great grandmother died. "YEAH," Dennis replied, "and to think I spent the last five years pretending that I LOVED HER CATS." "Really!" I said, "tell me Dennis what did SHE LEAVE you?" Dennis growled, "FIVE STINKING CATS that's what!"...

Carmine Zacaria boasted that he drove a car for 20 YEARS and was never bothered by a "BACK SEAT" driver. That's amazing," RICHIE REBIDUE declared, "how did you manage to be so LUCKY?" Carmine smiled and replied, "I drove A HEARSE."

Folks, I am sure some of you have answered your PHONES and heard someone trying to sell you VINYL SIDING, KITCHEN CABINETS or ALUMINUM WINDOWS. Well some eager beaver STOCK BROKER was calling my AUNT NORA every night for a week. He wouldn't take an "I'M NOT INTERESTED" response. His final pitch was "Buy this stock Ma'am and I GUARANTEE it will triple in VALUE in ten years." "Look here Sonny" Aunt Nora exclaimed, "I'm 89 YEARS OLD, I don't even buy GREEN BANANAS anymore!" A Cruise Ship CAPTAIN held a Hero Award Ceremony for JIMMY BRUCE who jumped into the water and saved a young lady from DROWNING. "Speech, speech" everyone shouted. Jimmy got up and said "THANK YOU CAPTAIN for this fine dinner. And THANK YOU FOLKS for your applause but truthfully I'm NO HERO, I would like to meet the DIRTY RAT who PUSHED me off the SHIP!"

There are TWO REASONS why we may never see a WOMAN PRESIDENT of the United States. NO. 1 - there are very few women who will admit that they are 35 years old. NO. 2 - if she is beautiful the women won't vote for her and if she looks like Kathy the men won't vote for her. As far as I am concerned, I'LL VOTE FOR A WOMAN FOR any elective office up to and including president. I say that freely and without any reservations and not because KATHY and my AUNT NORA are looking over my shoulder as I am typing this column.

Coping when your spouse has ADD

Your spouse may have ADD, but you are not certain. You feel a strain between you and the problems have been ongoing since the beginning of your marriage. Or your family has lived a chaotic emotional and financial lifestyle, and there is no end in sight. If you find yourself in this situation, it is important to understand whether your marriage has particular deep problems that need to be addressed and or whether you, or your spouse, or both of you suffer from Attention Deficit Disorder.

When a spouse has Attention Deficit Disorder, problems in the marriage look like other marriages in difficulty, but the source of those difficulties is very different. For example, a spouse habitually rushes around, is late for appointments, often seems aloof and distant, is unable to listen to conversations, changes jobs often, or is deemed irresponsible by the other spouse. The other spouse feels like the caretaker and caregiver and jokingly refers to the husband or wife as "another child in the house." Problems with substance abuse, mood swings and over sensitivity seem to keep the family off balance. At the same time, that spouse is funny, creative, can be highly charismatic and hard working. It just seems that the family and the couple is always stressed and exhausted by the waves of chaos and lack of consistency in their lives.

In Hallowell's book, "Driven to Distraction," a wife asks Dr. Hallowell, "How do you tell ADD from being self-centered?" Dr. Hallowell wisely answers that individuals with ADD are constantly distracted or seeking stimulation to avoid boredom.

In an ADD marriage, the disappointment and annoyance of the non-ADD spouses often leads to criticism causing the highly sensitive ADD spouse to withdraw. This disappoints the other spouse who then feels validated that his/her partner is uncaring and irresponsible.

Whatever the source of the difficulty, the most effective way to understand the problem is to find a therapist who can discern between ADD and other issues. Attention deficit disorder may look like bipolar disorder or even hyperthyroidism. In addition, an individual with ADD often suffers from depression and/or anxiety as well. Once a diagnosis has been correctly made for ADD, a psychiatric consultation should be made to dis-

Sunday is National Cancer Survivors Day

Thanks to improved research, detection and treatment, more people than ever before are beating cancer. Perhaps you or someone you know is one of them. Sunday, June 2, will mark the 15th anniversary of the world's largest cancer survivor event. National Cancer Survivors Day, and you're invited to the party.

The National Cancer Survivors Day Foundation is encouraging everyone to locate the event in their community by checking with their local hospital or cancer treatment center, or by calling the Foundation at (615) 794-3006 or sending email to ncsd@aol.com. More than 700 communities throughout North America and elsewhere are scheduled to host celebrations on June 2.

There are now 8.9 million Americans who have faced the threat of cancer and are alive today, according to the National Cancer Institute. You

Live in elegance at home

Magnificently crafted by local builders, Vincent Visconti and Bernard Cormier of Landmark Homes Inc, this spectacular new 10-room, four-bedroom, three and a half bath residence is ready for a fortunate owner. Sited beautifully at the end of a long winding drive in exclusive "Bridle Way Estates" the house is located amidst three acres of woodlands and manicured gardens. The exterior of the houses features a wraparound mahogany porch with sculptured columns and extensive detail molding. There is a full walk out lower level onto a stone patio, perfect for entertaining and plenty of room in the backyard for a future pool. The interior features a grand 20x14 entrance with in-lay mahogany hardwood flooring. Elegant living and dining rooms with custom woodwork and oversized transom windows.

A columned entry opens to the two story great room with spectacular arched glass wall, gas fireplace adorned with a custom designed cherry wall and granite surrounding the hearth. Off the great room is a spacious mahogany deck for grilling or just relaxing in the sunshine. Custom designed solid cherry kitchen, with top of the line appliances including refrigerator are included. In addition are glass paneled doors, under counter accent lighting and an abundance of recessed fixtures.

Decorating ideas for a wedding party

There are an average of four parties for each of the 2.3 million couples that marry in the United States every year, according to Brides magazine. The average wedding budget reached $19,000 in 2001, say researchers at The Knot, a wedding planning Web site.

This year, couples are seeking simpler, more intimate marriage celebrations, often in homes. "they want to save money for other things," says Cristina Abrams of Weddings by Cristina, a bridal consultancy in Miami and Key West, Fla. "Tradition and romance mean more than status," she says.

Roses, lace, hearts, and the color white are in the forefront of almost every wedding party decor. All are perfect props for transforming a living or dining room into a romantic backdrop for an at-home shower, bridesmaids' brunch, or the wedding itself. Set the stage at the door with a heart-shaped wreath of pink and white paper, silk or acetate roses, tied in satin ribbons and pinned onto lace-covered Styrofoam.

A vintage-rose wallpaper border pattern makes an ideal runner for the table or buffet.

CALL THE MARKET LEADERS

At Greers Widfeldt top producer

Robert Winsor, President and Owner of Century 21 Greers announced at a recent sales meeting that Melinda Widfeldt "Mindy" was top producing agent for the month of April.

Mindy has been a successful member of the Greers' team since 1994. She has a very strong background in sales and service and an equally strong commitment to her customers. She is a recent recipient of Century 21's "Masters Award" for 2001 and has been recognized with numerous other awards from Century 21 International throughout her career. She is a member of the National Association of Realtors, the Massachusetts Association of Realtors, and the Eastern Middlesex Association of Realtors.

She is the very proud mother of one son in college and a daughter in high school and she and her husband Mark were born in Woburn where they still reside.

Bob Winsor, the staff and her colleagues congratulate Mindy on an outstanding month of sales and service to her customers.

Wedding

From S-7

"Sprinkle tiny, silver mylar hearts on top," suggests Abrams. You can find the hearts in card stores.

To truly transform the room, however, look beyond and above the table. Hang on the wall individual favors, made of heart-shaped paper doilies overflowing with clusters of paper rosebuds. Use silver ink to write the name of a guests on each one.

Have no fear of ruining walls, doors, furniture and most other flat surfaces, thanks to a family of self-stick hooks, spring clips, poster strips, cord clips and other mounting products with Command adhesive from 3M. These remove as easily as they attach, and leave no hole, mark or sticky residue. Don't discard the self-stick products; You can use them again and again with Command adhesive replacement strips for other celebrations or just around the house.

For a formal sit-down affair, make room on the table for flowers and food and use the back of the chair to indicate where each guest should sit. Make scaled-down versions of a bride's bouquet lace and cabbage rose, and tuck in a small place card.

ADD

cuss medication options. It may take some time to find the appropriate medication and dosage.

The second part is couple's work to improve communication and listening skills, understand and be able to empathize with the others' perspective. Equally important is learning to communicate about sensitive issues regarding a strained or nonexistent sex life without blame or resentment. Couples also need to learn how to "fight" fairly, not to drag in past bitterness and to resolve issues rather than "win the battle."

The third part of the work is to help your spouse manage the ADD.

Some helpful tips to understanding and improving your life with an ADD spouse include:

1. Educate and inform yourself on the subject. Some books include Hunter in a Farmer's World and ADD Success Stories by Thom Hartman and The Attention Deficit Disorder Workbook in Adults Workbook and Attention Deficit Disorder in Adults, Practical Help for Sufferers and Their Spouses by Dr. Lynn Weiss.

2. Maintain a sense of humor. It will extend your patience and your life.

3. Communicate directly and own your own feelings. Talk to each other quietly about the ADD and the impact it has on your lives individually and as a couple.

4. Develop strategies to work on and manage the ADD. Keep it fun and humorous. Help your spouse with list making, and put a Far Side joke of the day at the top of the list to keep you both smiling.

5. Understand that individuals with ADD need down time to regroup. When overstimulated by too many demands, coming home and reading the newspaper is not tuning you out, but is rather a way to transition and internally quiet down.

6. Find strategies to break the pattern of becoming a nag or becoming a victim or victimizer. Discuss issues in a structured way without blaming.

7. Take responsibility for your own role to avoid becoming an enabler by covering up or cleaning up.

A number of adults find that the medication does not seem to work for them or they chose not to take it. An option is neurofeedback. Neurofeedback is a method to alter brain wave circuitry to improve concentration, focus, and sustained attention. Dr. Anita Myer is a licensed psychologist with a practice in Lexington. For a free consultation, call 781-274-0001 or visit her website at www.BostonNFB.com.

Cancer Day

won't want to miss the opportunity to celebrate life with these courageous and inspiring people on National Cancer Survivors Day. The event is also a time to recognize the families, friends and professionals who are helping cancer survivors live with and beyond cancer. A "cancer survivor" is anyone living with a history of cancer - from the moment of diagnosis through the remainder of life, says the Foundation.

Never been to a national Cancer Survivors Day event? Don't let reluctance get in your way. The day will be overflowing with camaraderie, compassion, faith, dreams, love and celebration, reports the Foundation. "this celebration of life is for everyone. There will be inspirational programs, parades, carnivals, concerts, ball games, exhibits, contests, dances and races.

The full Cancer Progress Report 2001 can be viewed online at <http://progressreport.cancer.gov>, which has links to additional information. To find out more about National Cancer Survivors Day, visit www.ncsdf.org, then join in this wondrous celebration of life!

Banking opportunity

At Stoneham
Co-operative Bank, you will be joining a $265 million dollar community bank with more than 115 years of experience. We are a dedicated team of professionals focused on delivering exceptional customer service along with the latest in financial products and electronic conveniences. We support our employees by offering a variety of training programs to enhance professional growth. Join us.

The following opportunities are available immediately for our new Billerica Branch.

Customer Service Representatives (Full and Part-time)

In this highly visible branch service position we are seeking individuals with strong service and sales skills to provide quality customer and financial services to our customers. Some of the services will be to gather information from the customer to assist them in determining their financial needs and to explain and service the customer with an available range of products. While we prefer retail bank experience we will train the selected candidates who demonstrate a positive attitude.

Although the schedules are prepared in advance, the applicant for the full-time position must be available to work the hours the branch is open. The hours for the part-time position are generally Thursday and Friday, 3:00pm to 7:00pm and Saturday, 8:30am to 1:00pm.

At Stoneham Bank we offer competitive wages and a comprehensive benefit package including paid holidays, paid vacations, 401(k) with company match and a sales/referral/performance bonus program.

If you are interested in this opportunity or would like additional information please visit or call Lisa Devlin, Billerica Branch Manager, Billerica Mall, 490 Boston Road, Billerica, MA 01821, (978) 663-3391. You may also forward your resume or call Stoneham Co-operative Bank, Human Resource Department, 80 Montvale Avenue, Stoneham, MA 02180, M/S-4 • Tel: (781) 481-5729, Fax: (781) 481-5955, Email: ncorrigan@stonehambank.com AAEOE

School Notes

Looking up and learning

Teams at the top in Lynnfield

"Gold and Silver awards went to all three Lynnfield High School Teams at this year's 2002 OM Destination Imagination tournament," notes the "Lynnfield Villager."

"The town of Lynnfield made an impressive showing with ten teams representing all of the four schools at Salem High School."

"First place awards went to two Lynnfield High School teams competing in different challenges. The Strand team members are Nicolette McGeorge, Kristin McGeorge, Alex Casey, Caila Nickerson, Kathryn Pienta, and Amy Sawin, coached by Jonna Casey and Glenda McGeorge. The 'Dual Dilemma' team members are Matt Hoffman, Debbie Amanti, Cristin Costa, Julia Sferlazzo, David Kozhuk, and Ashley Goldthwait coached by Dotti Amanti and Richard Goldthwait. Both teams will go on to represent the region at the State Finals in Worcester."

"A second place award went to the 'On Holiday' team coached by Doris Boghosian and Jonna Casey. Team members are Liana Boghosian, Alex Casey, Selena Donovan, Kristin McGeorge, Alex Piccinni and Kathryn Pienta."

"The 'Spirit of Discovery' and Imagination Award went to Lynnfield High School (Amanti/Goldthwait) Dual Dilemma team who were recognized as a superior role model in spirit, sportsmanship and volunteerism...."

Man at the top in Woburn

"Clapp Elementary School Principal Mark Donovan has been named 'Administrator of the Year' by the Massachusetts School Psychologists Association," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The award will be presented during a luncheon at the association's annual conference, held this year at the Crowne Plaza Hotel in Woburn."

"Donovan was nominated for the award by school psychologist Patricia Faro, who works in the school, with the support of other staff and parents, according to Clare Clark, president of the Massachusetts School Psychologists Association (MSPA)."

"Each year the MSPA presents awards at its annual conference to individuals in education 'who have made a special contribution to children,' said Clark."

"She said many fine nominations were received, but Faro's letter really moved the MSPA's board of trustees. "Clark said school psychologists really value principals who are supportive and child-centered, and that Donovan fits the bill, managing administrative demands, but making concern for students and staff a priority."

"He is actively involved in the daily routine of children, including greeting them in the morning and supervising at recess; improving the school's academic performance; and working with parents and teachers, Clark noted. He (Donovan) fosters a climate of respect and sense of community at the school...."

Tip top in Tewksbury

"At the meeting, the School Committee approved the school department's third five-year strategic plan and the submission of an article for Town Meeting that seeks to raise funds for Internet access at the elementary schools," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"As the fifth year of its current strategic plan draws to a close, the school department plans to strengthen its efforts in such endeavors as increasing student's basic skills by focusing on guided reading; implementing the new math program for students from Kindergarten through the sixth grade; establishing a success plan for students who are having difficulty with the Massachusetts Comprehensive Assessment (MCAS) test; expanding the uses of technology; and finalizing the renovations at the Wynn Middle School."

"The department's new five-year Strategic Plan is the culmination of efforts between faculty members at Northeastern University and staffers within the school department. This plan makes the third five-year one that has been developed by the school department. For the first time in the history of the 5-year strategic plans, core values are being included."

"About A Boy"

MOVIE: "ABOUT A BOY"

GRADE: **

Review: This film, directed by Paul Weitz and Chris Weitz, stars Hugh Grant as a man named Will, who has his life all neatly figured out - his days are divided into little units, with specific amounts of time devoted to specific activities, such as working out, eating, watching television, etc.

Financially, he is well off, thanks to a little Christmas song his father wrote long ago, and each time it is played, Will gets a small financial gratuity. He lacks a little in the love department, because he seeks out a certain type of woman - one whom he can have a physical relationship with, then move on without any strings attached.

Those women are hard to find, so he joins a support group for single parents, pretending that he has a child of his own (though he is conveniently never around).

Things change a bit when a needy child begins to latch onto Will, and he starts to see that there is more to life than simply little units throughout your day.

Grant is likable, and young Nicholas Hoult, who plays the boy who follows Will around, is very good.

SHORTTAKES

MOVIE: "STAR WARS EPISODE II: ATTACK OF THE CLONES"

GRADE: ***

Review: Director and 'Star Wars' creator George Lucas would like this to play out like a teen love story set against the stars, but the dialogue between the characters involved is so poorly written it's almost laughable at times.

Natalie Portman returns as the former Queen Amidala, now a Senator for her planet of Naboo. Hayden Christensen takes the reins as Anakin Skywalker, the man who will ultimately become Darth Vader from the later movies. For now, though, is a young teenager learning to become a Jedi Knight, taught by Obi-Wan Kenobi (again played by Ewan MacGregor). He is also trying to control his love for Amidala, but the two become entwined romantically when he is assigned to guard her after a mysterious figure makes an attempt on her life.

Lucas knows how to create large-scale battles and mind-bending special effects (the movie's final half hour is worth the full price of admission), but the dialogue between Skywalker and Amidala is poor at best. One character actually utters the line, "I hate sand" during a pivotal moment between the two.

The main plot involves the new leader of the Republic attempting to get support for creating an army of clones, which the Jedi Council, led by Yoda (who kicks butt in a fight scene), opposes. Anyone who has seen the original trilogy knows what eventually happens, and it is somewhat satisfying for anyone who hated the character of Jar-Jar Binks from 'Episode I' to see that he plays a pivotal role in the eventual downfall of the Jedis.

MOVIE: "SPIDERMAN"

GRADE: ***

Review: Director Sam Raimi has created one of the better transitions from comic book to major motion picture that has ever been made.

Raimi has commented in a number of recent interviews that he is a lifelong fan of the 'Spiderman' comic series from Marvel Comics, and his devotion to the character shows up on screen. The basic plot elements remain faithful to the story told on the pages of countless editions of comic books, while managing to successfully bring the character into the year 2002.

The story centers around Peter Parker, played by Tobey Maguire, a nerdy and weak high school student who is the butt of many pranks and pushes by the school bullies, all the while secretly pining for his next door neighbor, Mary Jane Watson, played by Kirsten Dunst. She has been the object of his desire ever since she moved in, but he is too afraid to tell her.

After being bitten on the hand by a genetically-altered spider, he develops the ability to climb walls, spin webs, and has super strength, just like a spider. The film takes off from there, as he becomes more comfortable with his new powers, and the responsibility that goes along with them.

Along the way he encounters the Green Goblin, an altered version of his best friend's father, played to the hilt by Willem Dafoe. The Goblin is hell bent on getting revenge on others within his company, and once Spiderman stands in his way, the two become arch enemies in a storyline that ends in a high-flying battle above Manhattan.

The special effects are a bit suspect at the start, but the webslinging gets much better as the film moves along. Maguire is perfect as Parker, and Dunst makes the most of what she is given. Hopefully their relationship, and her character, will be expanded upon in the inevitable sequels.
